race is made and re made A key argument that runs through the book is the need to develop conceptual frameworks that can help us to make sense of the changing forms of racial and ethnic relations in contemporary societies This means developing more dialogue across national research cultures as well as empirical research that seeks to engage with the key issues raised by contemporary theoretical debates The book will be of interest to both students wanting to develop a deeper understanding of this area of scholarship and to researchers of race ethnicity and migration working in various national and disciplinary environments
