Theoretical Glaciology:

Theoretical Glaciology K. Hutter, 2017-03-30 The purpose and scope of this book on theoretical glaciology is outlined in the Introduction Its aim is to study the theoretical aspects of ice mechanics and the dynamics of ice masses in a geophysical environment For the mature reader the book can serve as an introduction to glaciology However this is not what I would regard as advisable Glaciology is an inter disciplinary science in which many special scientific disciplines play their part from descriptive geography to fairly abstract mathematics Advance ment will evolve from a merger of two or more branches of scientific specialization In the last 20 years several researchers in different fields of glaciology have written books emphasizing the aspects of their specialities and I have listed some which are known to me at the end of the Introduction When glancing through these books one recognizes that the mathematical aspects of glaciology are generally glossed over and to date there seems to be nothing available which concentrates on these Therefore I have written this book in an effort to close the gap and no apologies are offered for the mathematical emphasis Rather I believe that this neglect has to a certain extent aggravated progress in the modelling of glaciology problems

Continuum Mechanics and Applications in Geophysics and the Environment Brian Straughan, Ralf Greve, Harald Ehrentraut, Yongqi Wang, 2013-03-09 This book is dedicated to Professor Kolumban Hutter of the Darmstadt University of Technology on the occasion of his 60th birthday on 22 January 2001 Professor Hutter graduated in Civil Engineering from the ETH Zurich and then worked in industry related consulting at the Institute of Mechanics and the Laboratory of Hydraulics and Soil Mechanics at the ETH before embarking on a PhD in Theoretical and Applied Mechanics in Cornell University He duly completed his PhD under the supervision of Professor Y H Pao working in the field of the electrodynamics of continuous media After his PhD Professor Hutter returned to Europe where he worked as a senior scientist at the Laboratory for Hydraulics Hydrology and Glaciology ETH Zurich being involved in glacier flow physical limnology avalanche research and granular media At the same time he maintained scientific contact with the Mechanics Institute of the Vienna University of Technology In both European cities he received a habilitation degree In Vienna for Mechanics in Zurich for Theoretical Glaciology and Limnology Since 1987 Professor Hutter has been the successor to Professor Becker at the Department of Mechanics Darmstadt University of Technology Professor Hutter's work has always been relevant to real life and a feature of the man is his attention to experiments and matching theory He has built up an internationally respected laboratory in Darmstadt which concentrates on both experimental and theoretical aspects

Ice Mechanics for Geophysical and Civil Engineering Applications Ryszard

Staroszczyk,2018-12-29 This book presents the concepts and tools of ice mechanics together with examples of their application in the fields of glaciology climate research and civil engineering in cold regions It starts with an account of the most important physical properties of sea and polar ice treated as an anisotropic polycrystalline material and reviews relevant field observations and experimental measurements The book focuses on theoretical descriptions of the material behaviour of ice in different stress deformation and deformation rate regimes on spatial scales ranging from single ice crystals those typical in civil engineering applications up to scales of thousands of kilometres characteristic of large grounded polar ice caps in Antarctica and Greenland In addition it offers a range of numerical formulations based on either discrete finite element finite difference and smoothed particle hydrodynamics methods or asymptotic expansion methods which have been used by geophysicists theoretical glaciologists and civil engineers to simulate the behaviour of ice in a number of problems of importance to glaciology and civil engineering and discusses the results of these simulations The book is intended for scientists engineers and graduate students interested in mathematical and numerical modelling of a wide variety of geophysical and civil engineering problems involving natural ice

The Mathematics of Models for Climatology and Environment Jesus I. Diaz,2013-06-29 This book is the culmination of the NATO Advanced Study Institute on The Mathematics of Models for Climatology and Environment which was held at Puerto de la Cruz Tenerife Spain during 11 21 January 1995 One of the main goals of the ASI was to establish a bridge between mathematical modellers on the one hand and physical oceanographers and climatologists on the other The book is divided into four parts containing a total of 16 chapters Parts I II and III are devoted to general models and Part IV to models related to some local problems Most of the mathematical models here considered involve systems of nonlinear partial differential equations The mathematical treatment covers a large list of subjects existence and uniqueness for well posed problems large time behaviour stability bifurcation diagrams of equilibria conditions for the occurrence of interfaces or free boundaries numerical algorithms and its implementation controllability of the problems etc I thank Jacques Louis Lions and Cornelius Johannes van Duijn for their guidance and collaboration as co directors of the ASI I also thank J F Padiol and G Diaz for their help in the planning and conduct of the ASI as well as in the preparation of this book
