International Teilhard Asia Conference 2006 Manila Philipppinen August 200 language English abstract The aim of the present article is to situate the Teilhardian vision of unification of all in Christ Eph 1 10 together with the resulting panentheistic evolutionary and mystical premises within the European philosophical theological tradition which I would like to call the unifying tradition In the first part of the article I shall try to prove that the Teilhardian conception of the evolutionary development of all beings up to the point of Omega Christ generally understood as a departure from multitude analysis towards unity synthesis is a simple consequence of the philosophical theological thought current that began with Parmenides manifested itself in the thought of Platon in Middle Platonism in the conceptions of Plotinus Nicholas of Cusa Spinoza Leibniz and in german idealism The second part of the article presents the analogy between Teilhard de Chardin s Christocentric and eschatological vision of evolution and the Christian conceptions of the emergence and return of all beings from and to God These conceptions were present in varying scope and degree in the thought of the Greek Church Fathers Clement of Alexandria Origen Cappadocian Fathers and later Christian authors Pseudo Dionysus Areopagite Maximus Confessor Eriugena The part s final section will discuss whether Teilhard s view on the animation or spiritualization of matter which implies a lack of difference between spirit and body represents a novelty in Christian thought or whether this view can be inscribed into the current of an orthodox unifying theory The third part of the article shall consider the degree to which European conceptions of multitude in unity panentheistic visions of Christian neo Platonism and the conception of gradual spiritualization of everything presented among others by Teilhard de Chardin can be implemented in the intercultural and interreligious dialogue between Christianity and Asian peoples and religions for whom the vision of animation and spiritualization of everything is surely a close one In the article s fourth and last part I shall try to portray the practical implications arising from the unifying tradition inscribed with Teilhard s thought for the moral and spiritual development of us all
