Life, Letters, and Literary Remains of J. H. Shorthouse Joseph Henry Shorthouse,1905

Literary remains Joseph Henry Shorthouse,1905 Explain Me This Adele E. Goldberg,2019 Why our use of language is highly creative yet also constrained We use words and phrases creatively to express ourselves in ever changing contexts readily extending language constructions in new ways Yet native speakers also implicitly know when a creative and easily interpretable formulation such as Explain me this or She considered to go doesn t sound quite right In this incisive book Adele Goldberg explores how these creative but constrained language skills emerge from a combination of general cognitive mechanisms and experience Shedding critical light on an enduring linguistic paradox Goldberg demonstrates how words and abstract constructions are generalized and constrained in the same ways When learning language we record partially abstracted tokens of language within the high dimensional conceptual space that is used when we speak or listen Our implicit knowledge of language includes dimensions related to form function and social context At the same time abstract memory traces of linguistic usage events cluster together on a subset of dimensions with overlapping aspects strengthened via repetition In this way dynamic categories that correspond to words and abstract constructions emerge from partially overlapping memory traces and as a result distinct words and constructions compete with one another each time we select them to express our intended messages While much of the research on this puzzle has favored semantic or functional explanations over statistical ones Goldberg s approach stresses that both the functional and statistical aspects of constructions emerge from the same learning mechanisms
