William Street District Six:

William Street, District Six Hettie Adams, 1988 Language in Cape Town's District Six Kay McCormick, 2002 The book is a sociolinguistic case study of District Six an inner city neighbourhood in Cape Town characterized by language mixing and switching of English and Afrikaans Its early inhabitants included indigenous people freed slaves of African and Asian origin and immigrants from Europe and elsewhere The ravages of apartheid affected the residents attitudes towards their languages in various ways which are described The book examines the norms and practices regarding language choice for various functions and domains in the only surviving sector of District Six It also contains detailed analyses of extended bilingual conversations showing a range of social linguistic and discourse features Of particular interest is the paradoxical polarization and blending of the two languages They are strongly polarized symbolically and functionally yet they are also habitually blended in vernacular speech through lexical borrowing and intrasentential language switching This paradox has interesting implications for the construction of individual community and language identity Postmodernism and Architecture at the End of Apartheid Hilton Judin, 2026-04-16 Set against a social and political urban landscape of segregation and forced removals Postmodernism and Architecture at the End of Apartheid unpacks postmodernism in the 1970s and 1980s as it unfolds in South Africa during the final brutal decade of apartheid Architecture and apartheid are central subjects of the book the ways they came to interact simultaneously to both buttress and undermine a country rapidly disintegrating With battles waged in defence of white minority rule architects turn to postmodernism reflected their disintegrating consciences and commitments in operating in uncertain times They shared with architects globally a postmodernism steeped in anxiety and despondency summoning forth classical forms and colonial symbols detached from their surroundings For some of these architects having studied abroad at the University of Pennsylvania the route to postmodernism was through their mentor Louis Kahn s bid to begin architecture anew in transforming ancient ruins as a modern concrete and brick order For others influenced by compatriot Denise Scott Brown who had moved to the United States it was learning by way of her African view of Las Vegas Postmodernism and Architecture at the End of Apartheid expands on contemporary discourse in postmodernism and architectural theory public culture and urban spatial politics It examines critical voices of the period Robert Venturi Paolo Portoghesi Colin Rowe Manfredo Tafuri Fredric Jameson and Kenneth Frampton as well as questions of resistance in different forms and mediums from the literature of Nadine Gordimer and J M Coetzee to grassroots struggle and community participation Connections between postmodernism and apartheid are uncovered along with the contributions brought by architects in South Africa to a global postmodernism of newly transformed landscapes of neon strips corporate temples and white suburban sprawl amidst townships and growing informal settlements Heritage Formation and the Senses in Post-Apartheid South Africa Duane Jethro, 2020-05-11 In this book Duane Jethro creates a framework for understanding the role of the senses in processes of heritage formation He shows how the senses were important for crafting and successfully deploying new nation building heritage projects in South Africa during the postapartheid period The book also highlights how heritage dynamics are entangled in evocative changing sensory worlds Jethro uses five case studies that correlate with the five main Western senses Examples include touch and the ruination of a series of art memorials how vision was mobilised to assert the authority of the state sponsored Freedom Park project in Pretoria how smell memories of apartheid era social life in Cape Town informed contemporary struggles for belonging after forced removal how taste informed debates about the attempted rebranding of Heritage Day as barbecue day and how the sound of the vuvuzela popularized during the FIFA 2010 Football World Cup helped legitimize its unofficial African and South African heritage status This book makes a valuable contribution to the field of sensory studies and with its focus on aesthetics and material culture is in sync with the broader material turn in the humanities Burdened by Race Mohamed Adhikari,2009 Understanding the process and culture of self identification The Archaeology of Urban Landscapes Alan James Christian Mayne,Alan Mayne,Tim Murray,2001-12-13 This exciting 2001 collection on a movement in urban archaeology investigates the historical archaeology of urban slums The material that is dug up broken dinner plates glass grog bottles and innumerable tonnes of building debris nails and plaster samples will not quickly find its way into museum collections But properly interpreted it yields evidence of lives and communities that have left little in the way of written records Including eleven case studies five on cities in the United States and one each on London and Sheffield and futher chapters on Cape Town Sydney Melbourne and Quebec City it maps out a new field which will attract the attention of a range of students and scholars outside archaeology in particular historical sociologists and historians The Dundee directory ,1905 The Debates in the Several State Conventions on the Adoption of the Federal Constitution as Recommended by the General Convention at Philadelphia in 1787 Jonathan Elliot,1901 Minutes of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York New York (N.Y.).
