Window Art:

A World Art History and Its Objects David Carrier, 2008-11-28 Is writing a world art history possible Does the history of art as such even exist outside the Western tradition Is it possible to consider the history of art in a way that is not fundamentally Eurocentric In this highly readable and provocative book David Carrier a philosopher and art historian does not attempt to write a world art history himself Rather he asks the question of how an art history of all cultures could be written or whether it is even possible to do so He also engages the political and moral issues raised by the idea of a multicultural art history Focusing on a consideration of intersecting artistic traditions Carrier negotiates the way meaning and understanding shift or are altered when a visual object from one culture for example is inserted into the visual tradition of another culture A World Art History and Its Objects proposes the use of temporal narrative as a way to begin to understand a multicultural art history Art-Union, 1881 Merchants Record and Show Window, 1922 Construction, 1908

Pricing and Forecasting Carbon Markets Bangzhu Zhu, Julien Chevallier, 2017-05-09 This book applies the multidisciplinary approaches of econometrics statistics finance and artificial intelligence for pricing and forecasting the carbon market in the context of managerial issues It explores the related issues of pricing and forecasting the carbon market using theoretical models and empirical analyses demonstrating how the carbon market as a policy based artificial market is complex and influenced by both the market mechanisms and the external heterogeneous environments By integrating the features of analytical systems it offers insights to further our scientific understanding of the pricing mechanism and the variable laws governing the carbon market Moreover it lays a foundation for dealing with climate change in China and constructing a national carbon market there Ultimately it actively contributes to the energy saving and CO₂ emission reduction promoted by the carbon market The carbon market represented by the European Union Emissions Trading System EU ETS is a cost effective measure for tackling climate change Furthermore pricing and forecasting carbon market has been one of the research focuses in the fields of energy and climate change As a policy tool of the trading mechanism the carbon market offers a great institutional innovation for coping with climate change Due to its multiple advantages including saving costs and environment protection and political feasibility more and more countries including China have applied the carbon market for carbon dioxide CO₂ emission reduction Accurately understanding the pricing mechanism and mastering the fluctuating law of carbon market is essential to build a national carbon market for China
