Television Horace Newcomb, 1987 The fourth edition of this acclaimed work features essays on such current topics as Mr T Dallas music videos soap operas and the ideology and politics of television The contributors span a wide range of disciplines and employ a variety of approaches including semiotics cultural studies and institutional analyses along with more traditional views of plots and themes to provide readers with a broad balanced perspective on popular television

Making Television Robert Thompson, Gary C. Burns, 1990-09-27 Part of Praeger's Media and Society Series this contributed volume is the only collection of essays on television authorship It includes work of some of the most prominent scholars in television studies Rather than assigning one author to individual television texts the contributors probe the relationship between the various authors at work within the institutional cultural and economic settings that characterize the television industry This book analyzes and defines the unique methods of television authorship and suggests numerous candidates for authorial accountability allowing the medium to enter the realm of contemporary criticism The first part of the volume provides a case study in four chapters on authorship issues surrounding Frank's Place the short lived but compelling situation comedy This is followed by three chapters focusing on issues of authorship in international television The book then probes the studio's role as author including essays on Warner Brothers Desilu and Screen Gems Finally the contributors examine individual TV authors and cover such topics as point of view in music video television production as collective action and unconventional television

Quality Popular Television Mark Jancovich, James Lyons, 2003 Why are some contemporary television shows so compelling The Sopranos Buffy the Vampire Slayer Friends and ER are examples among many of a new era of the must see programme These shows and others like The X Files and Ally McBeal have a compulsiveness a depth of characterisation and back story that puts most of cinema to shame Quality Popular Television looks at this new category of cult television mostly US produced and the reasons for its emergence Looking at shows as diverse as Ally McBeal Martial Law Buffy Lois and Clark Star Trek The Next Generation and Ellen the book examines the particular qualities necessary for success and how they relate to issues such as the economics of network scheduling the growth of the internet and contemporary debates about television audiences This important new book provides an invaluable window on transformations in contemporary television culture

TV Genres Brian Geoffrey Rose, Robert S. Alley, 1985-12-23 This book fills a need It will be used by scholars and revered by undergraduates doing papers It is a highly desirable acquisition for libraries of all types Choice an essential purchase for university and most college libraries as well as large public libraries Reference Books Bulletin Television Ruth Lorand, 2002 Television has been the subject of research in politics culture education and economy but very little has been said so far about its potential for creating new forms of art Is television capable at all of creating serious art or is it just a means of amusement and communication This collection of articles discusses the aesthetic aspect of television maintaining the claim that television bears its own unique artistic potentials Examinations of various aspects and features of television in comparison to other forms of art as well as analyses of specific television programs consolidate this claim This book includes an introduction by the editor Ruth Lorand and articles by scholars from universities situated in different cultural and political settings Germina Nagat Alexander Nehamas David Goldblatt Eddy Zemach Kathleen Marie Higgins Andrew Ballantyne Eran Guter Rob van Gerwen Katya Mandoki Sally Banes and Charles Leech □□, 1993 Television Sitcom Brett Mills, 2005-11-17 Despite its global reach longstanding popularity and immense profitability sitcom has been repeatedly neglected in theoretical work on television and media This book demonstrates that this lack needs to be sorely addressed by dragging analysis of sitcom up to date with a wealth of contemporary examples a range of new approaches to the genre and examination of the roles sitcom and comedy play within society The book takes as its starting point the variety of ways in which sitcom has traditionally been explored A chapter on genre examines the history and development of sitcom and the institutional structures which produce it There is also analysis of differences between sitcoms produced in a range of countries and what happens when a programme gets sold abroad and remade A chapter on representation explores the debates about the ways in which sitcom chooses who to make jokes about and why and whether this matters And a chapter on performance argues that this is a vital and underexplored aspect of sitcom's funniness and interrogates the ways in which comic actors make their performance funny With specific case studies on Will and Grace The Office and The Cosby Show as well as analysis of a broad range of contemporary and historical examples throughout this book will be of interest to students of sitcom and comedy as well as those of television and popular culture Fifties Television William Boddy, 1990 Just a few years in the mid 1950s separated the golden age of television's live anthology drama from Newton Minow's famous vast wasteland pronouncement Fifties Television shows how the significant programming changes of the period cannot be attributed simply to shifting public tastes or the exhaustion of particular program genres but underscore fundamental changes in the way prime time entertainment programs were produced sponsored and scheduled These changes helped shape television as we know it today William Boddy provides a wide ranging and rigorous analysis of the fledgling American television industry during the period of its greatest economic growth programming changes and critical controversy He carefully traces the development of the medium from the experimental era of the 1920s and 1930s through the regulatory battles of the 1940s and the network programming wars of the 1950s BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by

Television Horace Newcomb, 1982

Television, Aesthetics and Reality Anthony David Barker, 2006 This new collection of essays seeks to focus on three areas where television has recently been in an intriguing state of flux Taking as our background the emergence of multimedia conglomerates and cash rich cable channels we look at the way old national terrestrial channels and the brash new internationally commercialized ones have innovated in the domain of television programming In all there are fourteen original essays an introduction to the book TM s theme by the editor and a foreword by Professor Annette Hill Section one oeRealizing the Real looks at contemporary patterns of television consumption and the presentational styles which package the real in news current affairs and other live TM television formats Essays on rhetorical strategies in the news coverage of the war in Iraq on national and international inflections of Sky News in Europe and coverage of the recent EURO2004 football tournament as well the multi channel reporting of a prominent paedophilia scandal are presented in this section They all analyse the extent to which the grounded and the local are threatened and distorted by hegemonic forces in media today The findings of a comprehensive new study of Portuguese social practices and viewing habits are also featured in this section Section Two oeRealizing Performance addresses the way new trends in reality programming and other documentary practices have impacted on fiction and entertainment television There are essays on the recent wave of British television comedy heavily influenced by TV newsmagazine and fly on the wall documentary styles and two pieces on new American series 24 and CSI which have revolutionized the narrative parameters and evidential base for thrillers and cop shows respectively coming up with new ways to perform TM space time and science Finally there is an essay on Nigel Kneale TM s The Year of the Sex Olympics 1968 a survivor from the era of the single play who seems to anticipate the future of television in reality based gameshow style entertainment Each of these essays shows that the success of these programmes is dependent on a fresh restylization of the conventions and formulas which govern mainstream television programming They therefore see the representation of the real in fiction as primarily an aesthetic reappraisal Section Three oePerforming the Real looks at the explosion in reality television programming itself It focuses on the coming to pass of 70s and 80s theorists TM visions of both a passive voyeuristic society and one increasingly at peace with the notion of surveillance We have been progressively acculturated to watching and being watched Orwellian anxiety has given way to Baudrillardian acceptance of the message and the medium fused in a new order of mediated reality or hyperreality Essays refer specifically to the globalization of shows and formats and their local inflections and to coverage of reality shows in print media and on the net There are essays on The Bachelor and gender stereotyping Joe Millionaire and the conventions of melodrama and two on Big Brother one on the problems of communication within a sealed environment and another on its reception in Portugal Concerns about the self and its authenticity are consistency raised in all the essays of this section
