James Bryce Bryce (Viscount)

The American Senator:

The American Senator Anthony Trollope, 2020-09-28 I never could understand why anybody should ever have begun to live at Dillsborough or why the population there should have been at any time recruited by new comers That a man with a family should cling to a house in which he has once established himself is intelligible The butcher who supplied Dillsborough or the baker or the ironmonger though he might not drive what is called a roaring trade nevertheless found himself probably able to live and might well hesitate before he would encounter the dangers of a more energetic locality But how it came to pass that he first got himself to Dillsborough or his father or his grandfather before him has always been a mystery to me The town has no attractions and never had any It does not stand on a bed of coal and has no connection with iron It has no water peculiarly adapted for beer or for dyeing or for the cure of maladies It is not surrounded by beauty of scenery strong enough to bring tourists and holiday travellers There is no cathedral there to form with its bishops prebendaries and minor canons the nucleus of a clerical circle It manufactures nothing specially It has no great horse fair or cattle fair or even pig market of special notoriety Every Saturday farmers and graziers and buyers of corn and sheep do congregate in a sleepy fashion about the streets but Dillsborough has no character of its own even as a market town Its chief glory is its parish church which is ancient and inconvenient having not as yet received any of those modern improvements which have of late become common throughout England but its parish church though remarkable is hardly celebrated The town consists chiefly of one street which is over a mile long with a square or market place in the middle round which a few lanes with queer old names are congregated and a second small open space among these lanes in which the church stands As you pass along the street north west away from the railway station and from London there is a steep hill beginning to rise just beyond the market place Up to that point it is the High Street thence it is called Bullock s Hill Beyond that you come to Norrington Road Norrington being the next town distant from Dillsborough about twelve miles Dillsborough however stands in the county of Rufford whereas at the top of Bullock s Hill you enter the county of Ufford of which Norrington is the assize town The Dillsborough people are therefore divided some two thousand five hundred of them belonging to Rufford and the remaining five hundred to the neighbouring county This accident has given rise to not a few feuds Ufford being a large county with pottery and ribbons and watches going on in the farther confines whereas Rufford is small and thoroughly agricultural The men at the top of Bullock s Hill are therefore disposed to think themselves better than their fellow townsmen though they are small in number and not specially thriving in their circumstances

From Anthony Trollope The American Senator, Volume I Anthony Trollope, 2008-04 Walking across the bridge towards the house Reginald Morton felt thoroughly disgusted with all the world Or disgusted at least with himself for he had altogether made a fool of himself by his manner He had shown himself to be offended not only by Mr Twentyman but by Miss Masters also and he was well aware as he thought of it all that neither of them had given him any cause of offence If she chose to make an appointment for a walk with Mr Lawrence Twentyman and to keep it what was that to him His anger was altogether irrational and he knew it was so What right had he to have an opinion about it if Mary Masters should choose to like the society of Mr Twentyman It was an affair between her and her father and mother in which he could have no interest and yet and yet The novels of Anthony Trollope 1815-82 have returned to vogue in recent decades enjoy renewed popularity for their gentle yet carefully precise observations of the English people
