This conventionalist theory is elaborated in discussions of logical pluralism the epistemology of logic and of the influential objections that led to the historical demise of conventionalism Part III aims to extend conventionalism from logic to mathematics Unlike logic mathematics involves both ontological commitments and a rich notion of truth that cannot be generated by any algorithmic process To address these issues Warren develops conventionalist friendly but independently plausible theories of both metaontology and mathematical truth Finally Part IV steps back to address big picture worries and meta worries about conventionalism This book develops and defends a unified theory of logic and mathematics according to which logical and mathematical truths are reflections of our linguistic rules mere shadows of syntax
