Indeed, the application of a market-oriented system and new public management policies in higher education have increased the emphasis on internationalization, accountability, and management of academic work. These changes have increased the complexity of the academic work profile, which is characterized by teaching, research, and institutional demands, including public engagement to strengthen the interaction between university, industry, and society. The COVID-19 pandemic introduced far-reaching challenges that have further increased the psychosocial work demands. Universities continue to face continuous and rapid changes that have led to increased levels of work-related stress for both teaching and research academic staff, TRAS and technical and administrative staff, TAS. This scenario has also had a negative impact on the academic life and well-being of university students. Quick Bibliography Series, 1976 Working with People Naomi I. Brill, Joanne Levine, 2002 Now in its seventh edition, Working with People is a classic best-selling book for beginning social work students. It introduces the basic components of working with people: observation, assessment, communication, and intervention. The book presents the theoretical foundation of social work practice, promotes the development of practice skills, and encourages social work students to be more reflective in their work. The new edition contains material on managed care, the uses and impact of the Internet and related technologies on human service practice, and information on feminist and brief therapies.
