Architecture was a passion for many of the men and women in this book; wealthy patrons, burgomasters, princes, and scientists were all in turn infected with architectural mania. It was a passion shared with artists, architects, and builders, and a vast cast of Dutch society who contributed to a complex web of architectural discourse and who influenced building practice. The author presents a rich tapestry of sources to reconstruct the cultural context and meaning of these buildings as they were perceived by contemporaries, including representations in texts, drawings, and prints, and builds on recent research by cultural historians on consumerism, material culture, and luxury print culture, and the public.
