

Two's Company

It was a tranquil night past midnight, and there were three things I couldn't stop observing: my fingers – cold as a dead maid's cheek, cars – nowhere to be seen or heard, the moon – lonelier than it looked two nights ago, and my mind – floating on the surface of an ocean, searching for the right direction even though I can't navigate by the stars, not one bit. The loneliness makes me feel cold. I shouldn't let it get a hold of me for too long. And as I sat there on the metal black chair in my backyard, gaining more insight from a Carl Jung's book about the conscious and the unconscious, still on the surface, still moving at a uniform direction that I'm sure of, I began to sink slowly. And instead of panicking this time, I took in a deep breath just before my face sunk underneath the water. It was time to let my mind explore the unknown – the unconscious.

Ocean turned land. I could breathe, and sound waves could travel. All that's left out is gravity, air, and the uniform direction that I was in. I roamed around, searching for anything and everything even though I knew that I wanted to find a particular something – someone. And as I swim freely, I go in deeper, swirling around the place, enjoying the peace and quiet the mind has decided to yield upon me. To take one's time and assimilate their surroundings is truly what'll calm their hearts. It's almost like meditation – a kind of meditation that you can get to do with only your eyes – unless you prefer to use your body, too. I kept my eyes focused on the bright yellow school of fish that passed by. All so little yet so full of life. There's nothing I wanted to do but cherish the feeling of letting go in the water.

As I continued to swim deeper down in the ocean, a familiar rock caught my eyes in place. My eyes lit up like the presence of a million fireflies. It's just like how I remembered it. The rock of friendship. Designed as a seat for two. Surrounded by the beautiful vibrant coral reefs that I so remember clearly. This must be the place. The place where souls can have only the most whimsical times. I remember the feeling all too well better than the place itself. I quickly made my way down, occupying the hard yet snugly-looking surface of the rock. And as I get comfortable, I don't become reluctant to close my eyes and take a deep breath.

A faint noise suddenly came by.

"Sana!"
