The Unquestionable Right To Be Free:

Christianity in South Africa Richard Elphick, Rodney Davenport, T. R. H. Davenport, 1997-01-01 At a strategic time in South Africa's history the Christian history which is absolutely basic to all developments is presented in a comprehensive and objective way Too little attention is given to the influence of religion in socio political accounts This is a creative and much needed contribution to scholarship and general knowledge An outstanding work Dean S Gilliland Fuller Theological Seminary

The Rise and Demise of Black Theology Alistair Kee, 2017-11-28 Black Theology emerged in the 1960s as a response to black consciousness In South Africa it is a critique of power in the UK it is a political theology of black culture The dominant form of Black Theology has been in the USA originally influenced by Black Power and the critique of white racism Since then it claims to have broadened its perspective to include oppression on the grounds of race gender and class In this book the author contests this claim especially by Womanist black women Theology Black and Womanist Theologies present inadequate analyses of race and gender and no account at all of class economic oppression With a few notable exceptions Black Theology in the USA repeats the mantras of the 1970s the discourse of modernity Content with American capitalism it fails to address the source of the impoverishment of black Americans at home Content with a romantic imaginaire of Africa this African American movement fails to defend contemporary Africa against predatory American global ambitions African Theology Emmanuel Martey, 2009-11-01 Two major strands of theology have developed in Africa inculturation and liberation each in response to different needs Emmanuel Martey's African Theology provides a clear scholarly examination of these two basic approaches solidly based on Martey's understanding of contemporary theology and his firsthand knowledge of Africa Martey first examines the historical background of each of these theological developments especially relating to cultural and political movements enveloping the continent in the 1970s In sub Saharan Africa struggles for independence from colonizers have resulted in inculturation theology The defining aspect of this theology is that it pushes its roots firmly in African culture and traditions In South Africa on the other hand Black Africans struggling against the oppressive systems of apartheid have turned to liberation theology Martey shows how the real hope for African theology lies in the dialectical encounter between these two approaches and in their potential for convergence The two foci of liberation and inculturation Martey says are not contradictory but complement each other African Theology concludes by challenging African theologians to weld together the praxis of inculturation with that of liberation in order to achieve an integrative vision for the continent A letter to dr.
