Television In Europe:

Television in Europe Eli M. Noam,1991 Like its companion volume Telecommunications in Europe this book deals with the evolution of powerful monopoly institutions in the communications field the public broadcasters and the dramatic changes that took place in the late 1980s throughout Europe and transformed the media landscape It provides a comprehensive view of European broadcasting systems using the perspective of economics and policy analysis The introductory part offers a framework for understanding media and the forces of change affecting them The main section is a unique series of chapters covering the broadcast and cable television systems of almost thirty European countries

Television in Europe : Regulatory Bodies Serge Robillard,1995 Which are the main regulatory bodies dealing with television broadcasting in Europe What are their status and competences What are their supervisory and regulatory powers Transnational Television in Europe Jean K. Chalaby,2009-02-19 Today transnational TV networks count among television s most prestigious brands and rank among Europe s leading TV channels This is the first dynamically told story of the extraordinary journey of transnational television in Europe from struggling origins to its present day boom It is based in extensive research into the international television industry and makes full use of its author s remarkable access to leading industry figures from Sky and Turner to Discovery and BBC World The tale begins with a few cross border TV channels who fought hostile governments faced antagonism from the broadcasting establishment and provoked the contempt of advertisers But Jean Chalaby argues the planets came into alignment for pan European television in the late 1990s when a transnational shift in European broadcasting was produced He shows how transnational television and globalization have transformed one another and how transfrontier TV networks reflect and help sustain a global economic order in which the connection between national territory and patterns of production and distribution have broken down Television in Europe James A.

technology for the production transmission and reception of television is expected to replace analogue transmission throughout the world The timetable for this transition is uncertain and different projections have been made for virtually every country in the world This book gives the exhaustive details of the issues of this changeover in Europe and elsewhere The details are placed within the context of the massive changes which the television industry has been subjected to over the past 25 years The rollout of digital terrestrial television DTTV in Europe is a significant issue for every country included in this survey It is of such importance because DTTV is the centerpiece of many governments policies toward making Europe the world leader in new information and communication technologies These same governments are all wrestling with the issues of how to use the technology in ways that create both commercial and non commercial value European perspectives on the social cultural and political nature of broadcasting vary significantly from those in other parts of the world and require that the introduction of DTTV should be handled differently to its introduction elsewhere There are enormous technical political and economic aspects to be considered and these vary from country to country in Europe The two editors bring a perspective to this study as media economists who come to the European scene from other parts of the world The book covers DTTV in depth and it also includes discussions of cable satellite broadband and Internet technology for comparison

Television Across Europe EU Monitoring and Advocacy Program, Open Society Institute. Network Media Program, 2005 The reports include regional overviews and 20 individual reports focusing on the state of television both public service and commercial broadcasting The countries monitored include the whole of Central and Eastern Europe South eastern Europe selected Western European countries and Turkey Television in Europe Anthony Pragnell, 1985 The Printed Press and Television in the Regions of Europe Pierre Musso, Philippe Sou  tre, Lionel Levasseur, 1995-01-01 The Future of Television in Europe, 1988 A European Television History Jonathan Bignell, Andreas Fickers, 2008-12-15 European Television History brings together television historians and media scholars to chart the development of television in Europe since its inception The volume interrogates the history of the medium in divergent political economic cultural and ideological national contexts Taking a comparative approach to the topic the volume is organized around a set of common questions themes and methodological reflections Deals with European television in the context of television historiography and transnational traditions Case study chapters written by scholars from different European countries to reflect their specific areas of expertise The New Television in Europe Alessandro Silj, 1992 A Europe wide study of the state of television in Europe and its future The book addresses the question of the likely evolution of television in this fast changing continent Among the topics covered are public broadcasting in Europe new technologies and the European regulatory market Convergence in European Digital TV Regulation Christopher T. Marsden, Stefaan G. Verhulst, 1999 Analyzing the role of governments in the regulation of the new Information Society the ten chapters in this book stem from a seminar hosted by the European Media Regulation Seminar Group ESRG at the University of Warwick Each chapter explores the regulatory responses of the UK government and the EU to commercial technical and market convergence in the broadcasting telecommunications print media and computing sectors The text focuses on the establishment of satellite pay TV telecommunications and the launch of digital terrestrial TV as they blend real and cyber governance

Central and Eastern European Media in Comparative Perspective
John Downey, Sabina Mihelj, 2016-04-15 Appearing more than twenty years after the revolutions in Central and Eastern Europe this book could not have come at a more appropriate time a time to take stock not only of the changes but also the continuities in media systems of the region since 1989 To what extent are media institutions still controlled by political forces To what extent are media markets operating in Central and Eastern Europe Do media systems in Central and Eastern Europe resemble media systems in other parts of Europe The answers to these questions are not the same for each country in the region Their experience is not homogeneous An international line up of distinguished experts and emerging scholars methodically examine the different economic political cultural and transnational factors affecting developments in media systems across Central and Eastern Europe Whereas earlier works in the media system tradition have in the main adopted the political framework of comparative politics the authors argue that media systems are also cultural and economic institutions and there are other critical variables that might explain certain outcomes better Topics discussed range from political economy to gender inequality to the study of ethno cultural diversity This unmatched volume gives you the unique opportunity to study the growing field of comparative media analysis across Eastern and Western Europe A valuable resource that goes beyond the field of media and cultural analysis which media scholars as well as to area specialists should not go without
