

WHITE VENGEANCE

White Vengeance

Melvyn Stokes, Paul McEwan

White Vengeance:

Slaves and Missionaries Mary Turner, 1998 On 27 December 1831 a fire on Kensington Estate in St James Jamaica signalled the start of one of the largest slave revolts in the Caribbean Its leaders were leaders also in the mission churches and the independent sects and their followers expected the missionaries to support them in their bid for wage work and free status The missionaries however sent to save souls from sin in the face of planter hostility were explicitly committed to neutrality on the slavery issue This book traces the response of all classes in Jamaican society to mission work focusing in particular on the dynamic interplay between slaves and missionaries Embraced as fellow sinners assured of spiritual equality of all before God their intellectual equality with whites demonstrated in schools and classes the slaves imbued Christianity with political purpose and questioned why blacks and whites were equal after death but slave and master in life The slaves transformed the question into action in the political circumstances created by the decade long campaign for abolition and in doing so made the missionaries themselves into committed anti slavery campaigners

In the Shadow of The Birth of a Nation Melvyn Stokes, Paul McEwan, 2023-03-14 This collection brings together many of the world s leading scholars on race and film to reconsider the legacy and impact of D W Griffith s deeply racist 1915 epic The Birth of a Nation While this film is often cited there is a considerable dearth of substantial research on its initial impact and global reach These essays fill important gaps in the history of the film including essential work on its sources international reception and African American responses This book is a key text in the history of the most infamous and controversial film ever made and offers crucial new insights to scholars and students working in film history African American history and the history of race relations

What the Bible Says About God the Redeemer Jack Cottrell, 2000-09-04 Part of a three book series on theology which includes God the Creator and God the Ruler Cottrell expounds upon the three major elements of God as revealed in the scriptures providence redemption and creation

Romancing the Shadow J. Gerald Kennedy, Liliane Weissberg, 2001 Edgar Allen Poe s strength as a writer lay in fabricating fantasies in settings far removed from his own place and time This dislocation renders the attitudes embedded in his fiction open to interpretation and over the years some readers have found Poe to be virulently racist while others found him morally conflicted and still others detected a subversion of racism in his works subtle sympathies for non white characters As a nineteenth century Southerner Poe was a deeply ambiguous figure evading race issues while living among them and traversing the North South border with little sensitivity to its political implications In this tightly organized volume a handful of leading Americanists revisit the Poe issue re examining what it means to speak of an author and his work as racist and where the critic s responsibility lies
