Bringle,Julie A. Hatcher,Steven G. Jones,2023-07-03 International Service Learning ISL borrows from the domains of service learning study abroad and international education to create a new pedagogy that adds new and unique value from this combination It is a high impact pedagogy with the potential to improve students academic attainment contribute to their personal growth and develop global civic outcomes The international service experience provides opportunities for additional learning goals activities and relationships that are not available in a domestic service learning course or in a traditional study abroad course The service experience develops reflection while shedding light on and providing an added dimension to the curricular component of the study abroad course The international education component further broadens students perspectives by providing opportunities to compare and contrast North American and international perspectives on course content This book focuses on conducting research on ISL which includes developing and evaluating hypotheses about ISL outcomes and measuring its impact on students faculty and communities The book argues that rigorous research is essential to improving the quality of ISL s implementation and delivery and providing the evidence that will lead to wider support and adoption by the academy funders and partners It is intended for both practitioners and scholars providing guidance and commentary on good practice The volume provides a pioneering analysis of and understanding of why and under what conditions ISL is an effective pedagogy Individual chapters discuss conceptual frameworks research design issues and measurement strategies related to student learning outcomes the importance of ISL course and program design the need for faculty development activities to familiarize faculty with the component pedagogical strategies the need for resources and collaboration across campus units to develop institutional capacity for ISL and the role that community constituencies should assume as co creators of the curriculum co educators in the delivery of the curriculum and co investigators in the evaluation of and study of ISL The contributors demonstrate sensitivity to ethical implications of ISL to issues of power and privilege to the integrity of partnerships to reflection reciprocity and community benefits The Developmental Dimension in Instructed Second Language Learning Paul Malovrh,James F. Lee,2013-03-28 This work identifies developmental stages in the acquisition of object pronouns by instructed second language learners of Spanish It examines learners ranging from beginner to advanced where the most advanced are themselves teachers of Spanish language courses Study abroad experience is also a variable in the data The book explores language production from a functionalist perspective examining form to function and function to form mappings It provides insights into related developments in production placement and processing of object pronouns Detailed analysis reveals that the most powerful predictor of performance across levels and within levels for each of these is the level of the learner Formal instruction and the study abroad experience is examined both the specific instruction on object pronouns and overall exposure to instruction Student Study Abroad Goals and Change in Intercultural Competence Tammera R. Maloney,2019 University study abroad facilitators must maximize the benefits of a semester away from the home campus for students seeking to realize a transformational experience Among the documented benefits of study abroad for students is the development of intercultural competence The purpose of this study was to examine the relationship between student goals excluding foreign language goals for study abroad and change in intercultural competence Data for this study was collected over four semesters from students N 78 who applied and were accepted to attend a study abroad program in a western European country The study abroad program was hosted by a faith based university in the Midwest Participants were from the host university n 69 and other similar universities n 9 Participants were first semester freshmen n 34 upperclassmen n 44 female n 61 and male n 17 The Study Abroad Goals Scale SAGS Kitsantas 2004 and the Intercultural Development Inventory IDI Hammer 2012 were administered within the first week of the semester The IDI was administered again at the conclusion of the semester Students were encouraged but not required to complete the instruments Kitsantas 2004 study on the role of goals as a predictor of cross cultural development served as a model for this study Two research questions guided this study First what is the relationship correlation between student goals as measured by the SAGS for their study abroad experience and change in intercultural competence as measured by the IDI A Pearson r correlation analysis was run on each of the three SAGS subscales for the combined freshmen and upperclassmen participants Results indicated a simple negative linear correlation on SAGS subscale two for the combined r 279 p Improving Classroom Engagement and International Development Programs Patrick Blessinger,Enakshi Sengupta,Mandla Makhanya,2020-08-28 Educational pedagogy refers to student centered learning that provides meaningful engagement to directly enhance critical thinking and creativity This edited collection equips readers to understand and implement impactful creative teaching and learning methods designed to act as a catalyst to improve the learning experiences of students Dominant Beliefs and Alternative Voices Joan Elias Gore,2017-09-25 This book examines why study abroad is a marginal activity in American higher education and evaluates the role gender has played in the development and maintenance of this marginality Study Abroad Programs Pam Martin,2009 An overview of student and faculty study abroad programs with particular focus on programs in Mexico administered by California s public higher education institutions 2004 ,2004 This report emphasises the development of human capital to respond to future labour market needs in APEC and contributes to collective understanding of the synergies between human capital and innovation in fuelling growth performance In the paper International Mobility of Highly Qualified People in APEC the study argues that highly qualified people HQP are indispensable to an innovative economy A more innovative economy requires that the labour force include the right number and types of HQPs However for some segments of HQPs the job market is now international with the industrialized economies in APEC competing to attract individuals with the most in demand skills and experience This means that if APEC economies are to adjust to new skill requirements in order to support a more innovative economy they must formulate policies to retain domestic talent and attract HQPs from abroad On the other hand the mobility of HQPs is a necessary condition for knowledge dissemination and absorption in the new global economy The second paper The Development of Industrial Clusters Towards a Knowledge based Economy drawing on the empirical evidence from the Hsinchu Science based Industrial Park HSIP finds that human resources are indispensable to the build up of innovation capability As an economy develops it may even attract skilled labor from overseas However human resources that are repatriated or attracted from abroad are always insufficient to support the operations of an industrial cluster and they have to be complemented by indigenous skills Open Doors Institute of International Education (New York, N.Y.),2006 The Effect of a Study Abroad on Acquiring Pragmatics Johanna Katherine Brown,2005 Study abroad programs have the ability to help universities prepare their students both linguistically and culturally This study examines Brigham Young University s Fall 2004 Egypt study abroad program and how its students were able to improve their knowledge of Arabic pragmatics   Education for Global Leadership Committee for Economic Development. Research and Policy Committee,Committee for Economic Development,2006 To confront the twenty first century challenges to our economy and national security our education system must be strengthened to increase the foreign language skills and cultural awareness of our students America s continued global leadership will depend on our students abilities to interact with the world community both inside and outside our borders This report warns that the U S will become less competitive in the global economy because of declining quality foreign language education at the college and high school level Additionally the American public s deficiency in foreign languages and cultures is hampering efforts to counter terrorist threats To have a citizenry that is knowledgeable of world regions global issues and foreign cultures as well as conversant in other languages we will need to strengthen the curriculum of the K 12 education system as well as that of our colleges universities and professional schools Although there is much that can be done by states governors business leaders and others leadership by the Federal government will be crucial in jump starting this effort This report recommends 1 teaching international content across the curriculum and at all levels of learning to expand American students knowledge of other countries and cultures 2 expanding the training pipeline at every level of education to address the paucity of Americans fluent in foreign languages especially critical less commonly taught languages such as Arabic Chinese Hindi Japanese Korean Persian Farsi Russian and Turkish and 3 national leaders political leaders as well as the business and philanthropic communities and the media should educate the public about the importance of improving education in languages other than English and in international studies Appended are 1 A Timeline of Important Developments in International Studies and Foreign Language Education and 2 Major Federal Legislation Pertaining to International Studies and Foreign Language Education Contains 167 endnotes This report represents a statement by the Research and Policy Committee of the Committee for Economic Development For the Executive Summary of this report see ED502295   Open Doors 2007 Institute of International Education (New York, N.Y.),2007   NACE Journal ,2005   Education Across Borders Malcolm H.
