Costume in French Texts of the Eleventh and Twelfth Centuries Eunice Rathbone Goddard,1927 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1979 The Documentary Imagination in Twentieth-Century French Literature Alison James,2020-09-03 The Documentary Imagination in Twentieth Century French Literature identifies a documentary impulse in French literature that emerges at the end of the nineteenth century and culminates in a proliferation of factual writings in the twenty first Focusing on the period bookended by these two moments it highlights the enduring concern with factual reference in texts that engage either with current events or the historical archive Specifically it considers a set of ideas and practices centered on the conceptualization and use of documents In doing so it contests the widespread narrative that twentieth century French literature abandons the realist enterprise and argues that writers instead renegotiate the realist legacy outside or at the margins of the fictional space of the novel Analyzing works by authors including Gide Breton Aragon Yourcenar Duras and Modiano the book defines a specific documentary mode of literary representation that records assembles and investigates material traces of reality The document is a textual visual or material piece of evidence repurposed through its visual insertion textual transcription or description within a literary work It is a fact but it also becomes a figure standing for literature's confrontation with the real The documentary imagination involves a fantasy of direct access to a reality that speaks for itself At the same time it gives rise to concrete textual practices that open up new directions for literature by interrogating the construction and interpretation of facts

Picturing the Western Front Beatriz Pichel,2021-05-18 Between 1914 and 1918 military press and amateur photographers produced thousands of pictures Either classified in military archives specially created with this purpose in 1915 collected in personal albums or circulated in illustrated magazines photographs were supposed to tell the story of the war Picturing the Western Front argues that photographic practices also shaped combatants and civilians war experiences Doing photography taking pictures posing for them exhibiting cataloguing and looking at them allowed combatants and civilians to make sense of what they were living through Photography mattered because it enabled combatants and civilians to record events establish or reinforce bonds with one another represent bodies place people and events in imaginative geographies and making things visible while making others such as suicide invisible Photographic practices became thus frames of experience
