Surf Kapu:

Surf Kapu Selma R. Surfing Ben R. Finney, James D. Surf Craft Richard Kenvin, 2014-07-18 The evolution of the surfboard from traditional Hawaiian folk designs to masterpieces of mathematical engineering to mass produced fiberglass Surfboards were once made of wood and shaped by hand objects of both cultural and recreational significance Today most surfboards are mass produced with fiberglass and a stew of petrochemicals moving or floating billboards for athletes and their brands emphasizing the commercial rather than the cultural Surf Craft maps this evolution examining surfboard design and craft with 150 color images and an insightful text From the ancient Hawaiian alaia the traditional board of the common people to the unadorned boards designed with mathematical precision but built by hand by Bob Simmons to the store bought longboards popularized by the 1959 surf exploitation movie Gidget board design reflects both aesthetics and history The decline of traditional alaia board riding is not only an example of a lost art but also a metaphor for the disintegration of traditional culture after the Republic of Hawaii was overthrown and annexed in the 1890s In his text Richard Kenvin looks at the craft and design of surfboards from a historical and cultural perspective He views board design as an exemplary model of mingei or art of the people and the craft philosophy of Soetsu Yanagi Yanagi believed that a design's true beauty and purpose are revealed when it is put to its intended use In its purest form the craft of board building along with the act of surfing itself exemplifies mingei Surf Craft pays particular attention to Bob Simmons's boards which are striking examples of this kind of functional design mirroring the work of postwar modern California designers Surf Craft is published in conjunction with an exhibition at San Diego's Mingei International Museum

Waves of Knowing Karin Amimoto

Ingersoll,2016-10-13 In Waves of Knowing Karin Amimoto Ingersoll marks a critical turn away from land based geographies to center the ocean as place Developing the concept of seascape epistemology she articulates an indigenous Hawaiian way of knowing founded on a sensorial intellectual and embodied literacy of the ocean As the source from which K naka Maoli Native Hawaiians draw their essence and identity the sea is foundational to Kanaka epistemology and ontology Analyzing oral histories chants artwork poetry and her experience as a surfer Ingersoll shows how this connection to the sea has been crucial to resisting two centuries of colonialism militarism and tourism In today s neocolonial context where continued occupation and surf tourism marginalize indigenous Hawaiians seascape epistemology as expressed by traditional cultural practices such as surfing fishing and navigating provides the tools for generating an alternative indigenous politics and ethics In relocating Hawaiian identity back to the waves currents winds and clouds Ingersoll presents a theoretical alternative to land centric viewpoints that still dominate studies of place making and indigenous epistemology
