Taste Sarah E. Worth, 2021-11-11 A thoughtful consideration of taste as a sense and an idea and of how we might jointly develop both When we eat we eat the world taking something from outside and making it part of us But what does it taste of And can we develop our taste In Taste Sarah Worth argues that taste is a sense that needs educating for the real pleasures of eating only come with an understanding of what one really likes From taste as an abstract concept to real examples of food she explores how we can learn about and develop our sense of taste through themes ranging from pleasure authenticity and food fraud to visual images recipes and food writing

The Taste for Civilization Janet A. Flammang, 2009-10-06 This book explores the idea that table activities the mealtime rituals of food preparation serving and dining lay the foundation for a proper education on the value of civility the importance of the common good and what it means to be a good citizen The arts of conversation and diplomatic speech are learned and practiced at tables and a political history of food practices recasts thoughtfulness and generosity as virtues that enhance civil society and democracy In our industrialized and profit centered culture however foodwork is devalued and civility is eroding Looking at the field of American civility Janet A Flammang addresses the gendered responsibilities for foodwork s civilizing functions and argues that any formulation of civil society must consider food practices and the household To allow space for practicing civility generosity and thoughtfulness through everyday foodwork Americans must challenge the norms of unbridled consumerism work life balance and domesticity and caregiving Connecting political theory with the quotidian activities of the dinner table Flammang discusses practical ideas from the delicious revolution and Slow Food movement to illustrate how civic activities are linked to foodwork and she points to farmers markets and gardens in communities schools and jails as sites for strengthening civil society and degendering foodwork
