Analysis:

In free design, higher building heights have been achieved due to presence of higher FSI, while in constraint due to less FSI low lying buildings have been formed in the market area. This is also due to smaller plot sizes in Free design.

Open spaces are formed better in constraint design providing accessibility to assembly and acting as a buffer space at the same time. Green street connectivity in free design provides better walkability and functionality in pedestrian.

In Constraint design, due to large margins and setbacks, and large layout spaces in the plots as per the regulator, it is difficult to acquire the required ground coverage as per the regulations, resulting in low density.

Urban Condition

James Howard Kunstler

Urban Condition:

The Urban Condition Ghent Urban Studies Team, 1999 What does the Western city at the end of the twentieth century look like How did the modern metropolis of congestion and density turn into a posturban or even postsuburban cityscape What are edge cities and technoburbs How has the social composition of cities changed in the postwar era What do gated communities tell us about social fragmentation Is public space in the contemporary city being privatized and militarized How can the urban self still be defined What role does consumer aestheticism have to play in this These and many more questions are addressed by this uniquely conceived multidisciplinary study The Urban Condition seeks to interfere in current debates over the future and interpretation of our urban landscapes by reuniting studies of the city as a physical and material phenomenon and as a cultural and mental arte fact The Ghent Urban Studies Team responsible for the writing and editing of this volume is directed by Kristiaan Versluys and Dirk De Meyer at the University of Ghent Belgium It is an interdisciplinary research team of young academics that further consists of Kristiaan Borret Bart Eeckhout Steven Jacobs and Bart Keunen The collective expertise of GUST ranges from architectural theory urban planning and art history to philosophy literary criticism and cultural theory

The Urban Condition Leonard J. Duhl, 1963 The Urban Condition Brendan Gleeson, 2014-05-23 This book will speak to the new human epoch the Urban Age A majority of humanity now lives for the first time in cities The city the highest invention of the modern age is now the human heartland And yet the same process that brought us the city and its wonders modernisation has also thrown up challenges and threats especially climate change resource depletion social division and economic insecurity This book considers how these threats are encountered and countered in the urban age focusing on the issue of human knowledge and self awareness just as Hannah Arendt s influential The Human Condition did half a century ago The Human Condition is now The Urban Condition And it is this condition that will define human prospects in an age of default and risk Gleeson expertly explores the concept through three main themes The first is an exploration of what defines the current human condition especially the expanding cities that are at the heart of an over consumptive world economic order The second exposes and reviews the reawakening of forms of knowledge naturalism that are likely to worsen not improve our comprehension of the crisis The new science of urbanism in popular new literature exemplifies this dangerous trend The third and last part of the book considers prospects for a new urban and therefore human dispensation The Good City We must first journey in our urban vessels through troubled times But can we now start to plot the way to new shores to a safer more resilient city that provides for human flourishing The Urban Condition attempts this ideal conceiving a new urbanism based on the old idea of self limitation The Urban Condition is an original timely book that reconsiders and redeploys Arendt s famous notion of The Human Condition in an age of cities and risk It brings together several important strands of human consideration urbanisation climate threat resource depletion economic default and critical knowledge and weaves them into a new analysis of the times It also looks to a future that is nearly with us of changed climate resource scarcity and economic stress The book journeys into these troubled times proposing the idea of Lifeboat Cities as a way of thinking about the human journey to come The Latinx Urban Condition Crescencio Lopez-Gonzalez,2020-01-17 The Latinx Urban Condition brings together interdisciplinary cultural theory and U S Latinx urban literature into conversation focusing on the realities and urban experiences of Latinx living in major cities in the United States from the 1960s to the present The manuscript focuses on analyzing the works of Latinx authors who write about the city in which they were raised and how growing up in these environments shaped their lives their communities and their future Their fictional work helps us understand how the human and cultural tapestry of the Latinx community is inextricably connected to the spatial transformations taking place in many cities across the country most notably within the cities the authors write about in their narratives This is particularly true when the city is represented through a fictional narrative which is full of detailed information about the realities of structural inequality in education residential segregation urban cultural identity discrimination experiences of exile oppression urban desires integration and disillusionment The main purpose is to analyze the symbolic realities lived by the characters in order to understand how Latino families and communities are experiencing displacement under instituted neoliberal policies a process known as development and progress or gentrification

The New Urban Condition Leandro Medrano,Luiz Recamán,Tom Avermaete,2021-04-07 This book explores new architectural and design perspectives on the contemporary urban condition While architects and urban designers have long maintained that their actions drawings and buildings are post critical this book seeks to expand the critical dimension of architecture and urbanism In a series of historical and theoretical studies this book examines how the materialities forms and practices of architecture and urban design can act as a critique towards the new urban condition It proposes not only new concepts and theories but also instruments of analysis and reflection to better understand the current counter hegemonic tendencies in both disciplinary strategies and appropriation tactics The diversely international selection of chapters from Brazil Portugal Spain Sweden the United States and the Netherlands combine different theoretical and empirical perspectives into a new analysis of the city and architecture Demonstrating the need for new critical urban and architectural thinking that engages with the challenges and processes of the contemporary urban condition this volume will be a thought provoking read for academics and students in architecture urban design geography political science and more

The Urban Condition: Literary Trajectories through Canada's Postmetropolis Eva Darias-Beautell,2019-06-04 Examining the centrality of the city in Canadian literary production post 1960 this collection of critical essays presents an interdisciplinary representation of the urban from a variety of backgrounds and perspectives By analysing contemporary Canadian literature in English the contributors intend to produce not only an alternative picture of the national literary traditions but also fresh articulations of the relationship between Canadian identity citizenship and nation Since the 1960s metropolitan regions across the world have experienced radical transformation For critical urban studies scholars this phenomenon has been described as a restructuring This study argues that in Canada this restructuring has been accompanied by a literary rearrangement of its canon consisting of a gradual shift of focus from the wild or rural to the urban Alluding to the changes within contemporary Canadian cities the term postmetropolis locates the contributors shared theoretical framework within a critical postmodern paradigm Centered on a particular selection of poetic or fictional texts each essay pushes the theoretical framework further suggesting the need for new tools of interpretation and analysis This book presents an urban literary portrait of Canada that is both thematically and conceptually coherent Using a range of interdisciplinary methodologies it adeptly navigates a range of urban issues such as surveillance asylum diaspora mobility the queer and the post political This book will be of interest to those studying or working on Canadian literature both in Canada and internationally as well as to those scholars engaged in investigations that intersect literature and urban studies
