Comics, Trauma, and the New Art of War Harriet E. H. Earle, 2017-06-19 Conflict and trauma remain among the most prevalent themes in film and literature Comics has never avoided such narratives and comics artists are writing them in ways that are both different from and complementary to literature and film In Comics Trauma and the New Art of War Harriet E H Earle brings together two distinct areas of research trauma studies and comics studies to provide a new interpretation of a long standing theme Focusing on representations of conflict in American comics after the Vietnam War Earle claims that the comics form is uniquely able to show traumatic experience by representing events as viscerally as possible Using texts from across the form and placing mainstream superhero comics alongside alternative and art comics Earle suggests that comics are the ideal artistic representation of trauma Because comics bridge the gap between the visual and the written they represent such complicated narratives as loss and trauma in unique ways particularly through the manipulation of time and experience Comics can fold time and confront traumatic events be they personal or shared through a myriad of both literary and visual devices As a result comics can represent trauma in ways that are unavailable to other narrative and artistic forms With themes such as dreams and mourning Earle concentrates on trauma in American comics after the Vietnam War Examples include Alissa Torres s American Widow Doug Murray s The Nam and Art Spiegelman s much lauded Maus These works pair with ideas from a wide range of thinkers including Sigmund Freud Mikhail Bakhtin and Fredric Jameson as well as contemporary trauma theory and clinical psychology Through these examples and others Comics Trauma and the New Art of War proves that comics open up new avenues to explore personal and public trauma in extraordinary necessary ways

Representing the Traumatization of Child Soldiers in Uzodinma Iweala's "Beasts of No Nation" and Emmanuel "Jal's Warchild" Anne-Karen Fischer,2017-12-18 Examination Thesis from the year 2017 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Literature Works grade 1 0 University of Constance Anglistik Amerikanistik language English abstract Although the use of children in warfare is not a recent issue child soldiering has received increasing attention throughout the past two decades This trend led to a rapid increase of literary works that deal with the topic of child soldiers both fictional and autobiographical The topic of child soldiers often goes hand in hand with the topic of trauma and traumatization Repeated exposure to overwhelming danger and life threatening experiences can leave children with severe mental ill health such as Post Traumatic Stress Disorder and personality changes Literary works draw attention to the relationship between child soldiers and trauma as well as to the difficult relationship between trauma and representability in this context This analysis attempts to contribute to the literary research of how trauma is represented in child soldier literature and to increase awareness of this topic on an academic level As this analysis is meant to make a small contribution to the literary research on child soldier literature it merely focuses on two narrations Uzodinma Iweala s Beasts of No Nation 2006 and Emmanuel Jal s Warchild 2009 These two books were chosen based on the great differences of both the narrations and the authors background Beasts of No Nation BoNN tells a fictional story whereas Warchild is an autobiography Uzodinma Iweala is an African American writer with Nigerian roots and BoNN can be seen as a postmodern novel as it uses various postmodern and experimental narrative techniques Emmanuel Jal Jal in contrast was born and raised in Sudan and fought as a child soldier Warchild is an autobiography about his life as a child soldier before and afterwards It mostly uses traditional narrative forms to recount Jal s experiences Based on these differences the two books can serve as good examples of how trauma can be represented in child soldier literature Spine Trauma Alan M. Levine,1998 A resource devoted exclusively to all aspects of spine trauma Coverage is multi disciplinary covering orthopedic and neurosurgical topics Also includes in depth coverage of pain control physical therapy and rehabilitation in addition to specific considerations of management

Teaching Life Writing Texts Miriam Fuchs,Craig Howes,2008 The past thirty years have witnessed a rapid growth in the number and variety of courses and programs that study life writing from literary philosophical psychological and cultural perspectives The field has evolved from the traditional approach that biographies and autobiographies were always about prominent people historically significant persons the nobility celebrities writers to the conception of life writing as a genre of interrogation and revelation The texts now studied include memoirs testimonios diaries oral histories genealogies and group biographies and extend to resources in the visual and plastic arts in films and videos and on the Internet Today the tensions between canonical and emergent life writing texts between the famous and the formerly unrepresented are making the study of biography and autobiography a far more nuanced and multifarious activity This volume in the MLA series Options for Teaching builds on and complements earlier work on pedagogical issues in life writing studies Over forty contributors from a broad range of educational institutions describe courses for every level of postsecondary instruction Some writers draw heavily on literary and cultural theory others share their assignments and weekly syllabi Many essays grapple with texts that represent disability illness abuse and depression ethnic sexual and racial discrimination crises and catastrophes witnessing and testimonials human rights violations and genocide The classes described are taught in humanities cultural studies social science and language departments and are located in among other countries the United States Great Britain Canada Australia Germany Eritrea and South Africa

Supreme Court , Imaging of Orthopedic Trauma Thomas Henry Berquist,1992 Revised edition of Imaging of orthopedic trauma and surgery A comprehensive text for radiologists orthopedic surgeons and other clinicians and residents in training who deal with trauma updated to integrate new developments in orthopedic radiology As in the first edition the initial chapters discuss basic concepts in diagnostic imaging techniques fracture healing and soft tissue injury The main body of the text addresses imaging in adult trauma including evaluation of post reduction treatment techniques The chapters are anatomically oriented with a review of essential musculoskeletal anatomy followed by a discussion of routine radiographic techniques and special techniques as they relate to the specific anatomic region The final chapters discuss stress fractures and infection related to post traumatic injury emphasizing imaging of these specific problems Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR
