Discourse and Pragmatic Markers from Latin to the Romance Languages Chiara Ghezzi, Piera

Molinelli, 2014-07-31 This book examines the historical development of discourse and pragmatic markers across the Romance languages. These markers serve to indicate the organization of the discourse, the speaker's relationship with the interlocutor, and the speaker's stance with regard to the information expressed. Their relevance is in assisting interpretation despite the fact that they have little or no propositional content. In this book, distinguished scholars from different theoretical backgrounds analyse the different classes of discourse and pragmatic markers found in Latin and the Romance languages and explore both their diachronic development and their synchronic properties. Following an introduction and overview of the development of these markers, the book is divided into two parts: the first part investigates pragmatic markers developed from verbs such as Latin quaeso, Romanian ma rog and Spanish o sea; the second looks at adverbs as discourse markers such as French d j and Italian gi, Romanian atunci and Portuguese ali s. Chapters address a variety of theoretical issues such as the cyclic nature of functional developments, the nature of grammaticalization and pragmaticalization, semantic change, and the emergence of new pragmatic values. The arguments presented also have consequences for any analysis of the interfaces between grammar, discourse, and interaction.

Advances in Frame Semantics Mirjam Fried, Kiki Nikiforidou, 2013-12-15

This volume presents some of the latest research in Frame Semantics, including work in computational lexicography as developed within the FrameNet project. Using varied material from English, Italian, and Japanese, the contributions collectively expand the theoretical, conceptual, and computational apparatus of Frame Semantics by studying a range of issues concerning not only lexical structure associated with cognitive frames but also the less studied interactional frames and their relationship to grammatical organization. While addressing a number of linguistic phenomena such as verbs of visual perception, metaphoric language, subordinating connectives, paraphrasing, honorifics, certain pragmatic particles, basic speech acts, and the semantic structuring of legal texts, the analyses also highlight the broader question of integrating frames within rich lexical and grammatical descriptions, whether in the context of lexicon building, resources models for knowledge representation, experimental modeling of language acquisition and processing, conceptual metaphor theory, paraphrase research, or the communicative grounding of linguistic structure. Originally published in Constructions and Frames Vol 3 1 2011 and Vol 2 2 2010.

Morphological Structure in Language Processing R. Harald Baayen, Robert Schreuder, 2003

This volume brings together a series of studies of morphological processing in Germanic, English, German, Dutch, Romance, French, Italian, and Slavic, Polish, Serbian languages. The question of how morphologically complex words are organized and processed in the mental lexicon is addressed from different theoretical perspectives: single and dual route models for different modalities (auditory and visual comprehension, writing) and for language development. Experimental work is reported as well as computational and statistical modeling. Thus, this volume provides a useful overview of the range of issues currently
