Understanding Roman Inscriptions Eugene Vlemmix, 2014-12-13 Understanding as a model Gregory Chaitin a noted computer scientist propounds a view that comprehension is a kind of data compression In his essay The Limits of Reason he argues that understanding something means being able to figure out a simple set of rules that explains it For example we understand why day and night exist because we have a simple model the rotation of the earth that explains a tremendous amount of data changes in brightness temperature and atmospheric composition of the earth We have compressed a large amount of information by using a simple model that predicts it Similarly we understand the number 0.33333 by thinking of it as one third The first way of representing the number requires an infinite amount of memory but the second way can produce all the data of the first representation but uses much less information Chaitin argues that comprehension is this ability to compress data Studying the New Testament through Inscriptions C Burnett, 2021-10-05 Studying the New Testament

The Failure of Augustus E.A. Judge, 2019-02-18 Augustus did not mean to become the Founder of the Roman Empire We only say this to make sense of what happened later At the time there were indeed suspicions However Augustus plugged on with his propaganda with a proud and clear aim in mind In the end though his own persistence defeated him In all history we must first find out what was true at the time This book focuses always on the particular words of Augustus and how his mind could be read from them It is not concerned with any contemporary focus of research in Augustan studies but offers rather a sustained argument over the primacy of the original sources in any historical interpretation Behind that lies the question of truth itself in any history
