Harrington, 2019-08-12 This study traces the emergence of the concept of the body as a sanctuary from its biblical roots to its expressions in late Second Temple Judaism Harrington s hypothesis is that the destruction of the first Jerusalem temple was a catalyst for a new reality vis vis the temple and the emergence of increased emphasis on the holiness of the people along with concomitant standards of purity in a certain stream of Judaism The study brings into relief elements of this attitude from exilic texts e g Ezekiel to Ezra Nehemiah the Dead Sea Scrolls and other Second Temple Jewish texts including early Jesus and Pauline traditions The goal is to provide a history of the concept of the body cum temple metaphor which comes to its fullest expression in the letters of Paul to the Corinthians The concept of the body as a sanctuary as it comes to fruition in late second temple Judaism must be understood within the conceptual world of Jewish holiness of the time The metaphor of the temple provides a frame of reference but only a close analysis of the concepts of holiness purity and impurity and the dynamics between them can provide depth and distinction Of particular importance critical to proper understanding of the temple metaphor are the notions of the elect holy status of Israel and its possible desecration by wrongful sexual relations the loss of the temple and the ripple effect of creating at least temporary substitutes for processes of the cult the widespread concern in Second Temple Judaism for ritual purity in support of greater holiness and a desire among Jews for the residence and agency of the spirit of holiness In Search of the Spirit: Selected Works, Volume Two John R. Prophetic Rivalry, Gender, and Economics Olivia Stewart Lester, 2018-07-16 Olivia Stewart Lester examines true and false prophecy at the intersections of interpretation gender and economics in Revelation Sibylline Oracles 4-5 and contemporary ancient Mediterranean texts With respect to gender these texts construct a discourse of divine violence against prophets in which masculine divine domination of both male and female prophets reinforces the authenticity of the prophetic message Regarding economics John and the Jewish sibyllists resist the economic actions of political groups around them especially Rome by imagining an alternate universe with a new prophetic economy In this economy God requires restitution from human beings whose evil behavior incurs debt The ongoing appeal of prophecy as a rhetorical strategy in Revelation and Sibylline Oracles 4-5 and the ongoing rivalries in which these texts engage argue for prophecy's continuing significance in a larger ancient Mediterranean religious context

Paul in Israel's Story John L. Meech, 2006-08-10 It is commonplace that postmodern thought has problematized the concept of the self This poses a particularly sharp problem for Christian theologians for whom the idea of the person as a Christian self must be central In this book John Meech addresses this problem by means of a theological hermeneutics that brings together cutting-edge scholarship in biblical interpretation and constructive theology The book comprises three major parts In the first Meech reflects on St Paul's construal of Christian identity in light of what has become known as the new paradigm in Pauline studies This movement identified with N.T. Wright James Dunn and Terence Donaldson stresses the communal aspects of Paul's thought and his narrative understanding of the self In the second part Meech offers a pivotal analysis of Rudolf Bultmann's phenomenology of the self and its impact on his demythologizing interpretation of Paul's writings In the third part Meech engages Paul Ricoeur's late work Oneself as Another as a guide to the postmodern problem of selfhood and as a heuristic resource for interpreting Paul's writings He does not restrict himself to a textual treatment of Ricoeur's work on selfhood and narrative nor does he stop at an abstract reflection on its significance for theology. Instead he explores in considerable detail the contributions and implications of Ricoeur's later writings for biblical hermeneutics and theology. Investigating the unthematized hints about community presupposed in Ricoeur's work, Meech reconfigures his ontology of the self as an ontology of the self in community. Finally he correlates Paul's communal understanding of the I with this ontology, articulating a self that is constituted in community but not reduced to a mere locus of community. He argues that the community posited in his study can be understood as the community of the living and dead in Christ. Paul, the Temple, and Building a Metaphor David Anthony Basham, 2024-12-12. David Anthony Basham argues that Paul and the Corinthians share a system of associated commonplaces about the Jerusalem temple. Basham proposes that when Paul applies temple language to the Corinthians by calling them naos theou (God's temple), he sparks a creative process of interaction between the temple and the Corinthian assembly, a process of selecting, emphasizing, and organizing information from the source domain (temple) to see the target domain (the Corinthians) in a new light. Basham suggests that in understanding Paul's fraught relationship with certain institutions of Second Temple Judaism and his conception of gentile inclusion, we can appreciate the creative ways in which he employs cultic imagery to describe his ministry and the ritual life of early gentile believers. By exploring the construction of metaphor, the depiction of the Jerusalem temple in Paul's letters, and Judean religion among gentiles, Basham demonstrates that Paul's temple metaphor speaks to a new cultic reality for gentiles in Christ that is linked to Israel's worship, though detached from its actual expression in Jerusalem. The Message of Acts in Codex Bezae Josep Rius-Camps, Jenny Read-Heimerdinger, 2004-04-27. His book is a comparison of the message of Acts transmitted by Codex Bezae with that of the more familiar Alexandrian text represented by Codex Vaticanus. For each section of Acts, there is a side-by-side translation of the Bezan and Alexandrian manuscripts, followed by a critical apparatus and finally a commentary that explores the differences in the message of the two texts. It is concluded that the Bezan text, with its interest in internal Jewish affairs and its focus on the struggles of the early disciples to free themselves from their traditional Jewish expectations and to achieve, despite their mistakes, a more accurate understanding of their master's teaching, is the earlier of the two texts.

The Gospel and Letters of John, Volume 1 Urban C. von Wahlde, 2010-11-22. Urban von Wahlde's radically new three-volume commentary on the Gospel and Letters of John is the most detailed study of the composition of the Johannine literature ever put forth by an American scholar. Nearly all of the problems confronted by those who study John have to do with the literary strata of the Gospel of John and their relation to the composition of the Letters of John. With an archaeologist's precision and engaging a whole range of scholarly contributions in this area, von Wahlde digs down to the foundations and exposes three distinct literary strata in the development of the Johannine tradition. Volume 1 gives detailed evidence, identifying and listing the criteria for each stratum. Volumes 2 and 3 apply those criteria to the Gospel and Letters of John, respectively. Holy Spirit in Thought and Experience Thomas Rees,1915 Spirit and Kingdom in the Writings of Luke and Paul Youngmo Cho,2005 The paper in this volume are organized in three parts scriptural contextual and theological The central question being addressed is how do Christians living in contexts where Islam is a majority or minority religion experience express or think of the Cross This is therefore an exercise in listening As the contexts from where these engagements arise are varied the papers in drawing scriptural contextual and theological reflections offer a cross section of Christian thinking about Jesus and the Cross The Spirit World in the Letters of Paul the Apostle Guy Williams,2009 This book provides a comprehensive and critical examination of the role of spiritual beings in the authentic Pauline epistles the first work to give an exhaustive and systematic account in recent years Contrary to the views of many scholars that spirits are trivial or irrelevant within Paul s writings this monograph argues that they are inherent features of the letters Read within their historical and cultural context the epistles can be seen to participate in widely held assumptions about the role and influence of spiritual powers This argument allows for a fresh perspective on a neglected theme allowing for a re evaluation of aspects of Paul s letters Part One sets out the problems of interpreting the spirit world with reference to the agendas of modern scholars and ancient readers Part Two then examines angelology and demonology progressing through the main inhabitants of the Pauline spirit world angels Satan demons powers etc Finally Part Three sets out the key thrust of the argument the spirit world may be regarded as inherent in the letters because it is integrated into major Pauline themes This thesis is put forward by analysing the role played by spirits in helping to shape three areas of concern for Paul his Christology soteriology and sense of community Such an integrated approach yields a new way of perceiving the place and importance of spirits not as a major or minor doctrine but as an axiomatic and cultural idiom in the Pauline texts The Resurrection of Man Robert
