The spiritual life
does not remove
us from the world
but leads us
deeper into it.

Spiritual Power:

Understanding Spiritual Power Marguerite G. Kraft, 2003-08-18 While secularized cultures of the West have a great deal of difficulty dealing with the spiritual as a real non imaginary dimension of life most of the world s peoples do not Having worked and studied among peoples of several non Western societies Marguerite Kraft is convinced that coming to terms with spiritual power presents one of the greatest challenges for all those who work among non Westerners in pastoral or mission situations Understanding Spiritual Power addresses the dynamics of the felt need for spiritual power in relation to a people s assumptions values and commitments in order to provide a foundation for meaningful Christian witness in power oriented societies The Western Church Kraft argues under pressure from modern rationalism has largely lost awareness of God s power and position vis a vis the spiritual realm so important in other societies Indeed this loss of power could be one reason for the interest in Eastern and New Age philosophies on the part of Westerners disillusioned with the modern worldview Having worked among the Kamwe in Nigeria the Thai in Asia and the Navajo in North America Kraft focuses on specific ways in which people in these three societies view reality and suggests how the gospel can be articulated in forms they can understand Understanding Spiritual Power offers a theological as well as a practical perspective on spiritual power By exploring living societies providing examples and case studies and offering specific strategies this book makes a powerful case for rethinking and recasting traditional missiological methods At the same time it helps Western Christians with ears to hear question whether they might not learn as much from those with whom they work as they seek to teach

Spiritual Power? Richard Dean Pyle, 2014-11-21 We humans are caught in a predicament We are stuck between Jesus our only Savior and Satan our enemy He once told us that apart from Him we could do nothing Therefore the opposite is true With Him we can do anything We have all the Spiritual Power we need Spiritual power in our life makes a difference It makes ripples in time How can we have this energy of the Spirit See in this first book many ways how this is done With this Spiritual Energy we can travel back into our past present and change our future With this Spiritual Power there are so many ways we can use it in our lives and make a difference for others and ourselves See the multitude of ways we can do this Richard Pyle is married with family He lives in USA His Degrees BS 1967 BSL 1973 MS 1982 and author of a number of books
