Facing Feelings in Faith Communities William M. Kondrath, 2013-08-05 Facing Feelings in Faith Communities is based on a simple premise We have emotions because we need them God created us as affectively competent beings William Kondrath argues to help us understand our world and to give appropriate signals to people around us about what we are experiencing When we express our feelings clearly other people can more easily respond in ways that are helpful to us thus enhancing our relationships and the work we might do together Kondrath also recognizes that unfortunately for many of us our emotional software was infected early on with viruses early familial and social conditioning that distorted the way we responded to natural stimuli Because we are underusing or misusing our emotional capacities we are missing out on the opportunity to express our full humanity Fortunately we can re program our emotional software Facing Feelings in Faith Communities helps us restore our emotional systems to their original state or at least invites us to imagine how we would live differently if our emotional expressions were more nearly congruent with the situations and events we encounter Kondrath invites us to explore six feelings fear anger sadness peace power and joy through poetry meditation on an evocative drawing as well as through his own analysis of each feeling Congregational Resources for Facing Feelings is a companion collection to this book For more information click here

Emotion Management and Feelings in Teaching and Educational Leadership Izhar Oplatka, Khalid Arar, 2019-05-28 This book highlights the connection between culture and emotion management in teaching and educational leadership and allows researchers from different parts of the world to demonstrate how national and local culture influence the way educational leaders and teachers express their feelings display their emotion or suppress emotion publically
