

THE RELATIONSHIP SPECTRUM

Take a look at the behaviors on the Relationship Spectrum below. Where does your relationship fall?

Healthy

A healthy relationship means that both you and your partner(s) demonstrate:

Respect - Treating one another as an equal and whole human being. Valuing each other's thoughts, feelings and opinions.

Communication - Talks openly about problems and listens in a non-judgmental way. Affirms and understand each other's thoughts, feelings and opinions.

Trust and Support - Believing what one another says. Supporting each other's choice of friends, activities, goals and opinions.

Honesty and Accountability - Communicates openly, truthfully and respectfully. Acknowledges and accepts responsibility for one's own actions and words.

Equality and Fairness - Making decisions together and mutually agreeing on conflict resolutions where each other's needs are equally met.

Enjoying Personal Time - Enjoys spending time with one another while respecting each other's space and privacy when needed.

Making Mutual Sexual Choices - Talks openly about consent to one's sexual activities, choices, boundaries and birth control methods.

Cultural and Spiritual Respect - Recognize and honor one another's cultural traditions and tribal beliefs.

Unhealthy

You may be in an unhealthy relationship if one or more partners engages in:

Disrespect - One partner (or both partners) does not always consider the other in the relationship.

Poor Communication - Unwilling to talk openly about relationship issues without a fight or not talking about problems at all. Not listening to, affirming or understanding one another's thoughts, feelings or opinions.

Lack of Trust and Support - Not believing one's feelings or opinions. Not supportive of one's choice of friends, activities or goals.

Dishonesty and Lack of Accountability - One partner (or both partners) is not truthful. Unwilling to acknowledge or accept responsibility for one's own actions and words.

Takes Control or Unequal Resolutions - Not making decisions together. One partner thinks their desires are more important.

Feeling Crowded or Not Spending Time With Others - Only spends time with their partner or limits partner from seeing others.

Pressured Into Sexual Activity - One partner tries to convince the other that they should have sex.

Cultural Disrespect - Uses racial slurs or stereotypes toward their partner's culture, traditions or beliefs.

Spiritual Disrespect - Uses stereotypes, or is judgmental, misrepresents, or belittles one's spiritual beliefs or practices.

Abusive

Abuse is present in the relationship if one partner:

Mistreats The Other - One partner (or both partners) does not respect the feelings or physical safety of the other.

Communicates In A Way That Is Meant To Be Hurtful - Criticizes, belittles or humiliates their partner.

No Trust or Support - Accuse one another of lying or cheating when it's not true. Refusing to give support in a physical or verbal way to hurt the other person as a result.

Gaslighting and No Accountability - Denies or blames the other for any abusive actions or uses manipulation to avoid accountability.

Controls The Other - No equality in the relationship. One partner makes all the decisions in the relationship and has all of the power.

Isolates the Other Partner - One partner controls where the other can go, see or who they talk to.

Sexual Assault - One partner forces sexual activity on the other without their consent.

Pattern of Disrespect Toward One's Culture - Intentionally falsify, misrepresent or use racial slurs or stereotypes toward their partner's cultural traditions or beliefs.

Restricts One From Honoring Their Spiritual Beliefs and Practices - Uses intimidation or punishment toward their partner to keep them from participating in spiritual beliefs or practices.

The Relationships Revolution:

The Relationship Revolution Owen Williams,2009-10-22 Any relationship can work In The Relationship Revolution Owen Williams calls on couples to stop working in their relationship and start working on it When couples work in their relationship they compete against each other They justify themselves play the blame game and compare each other s level of effort It s not long before they say A relationship that takes this much work isn t worth saving When couples work on their relationship they co create the relationship they both dream of Their focus is on the needs of the relationship Instead of fixating on their individual shortcomings they concentrate on the potential of what they can build together Then as they discover what their relationship needs each individual is naturally drawn to what keeps them from offering their best to the relationship Before long the two individually and together evaluate their beliefs about themselves and the world While relatively untroubled relationships can easily fall apart under the first approach relationships marked by infidelity loss betrayal or long term disconnection can make the journey back to health under the second Welcome to the revolution

Latinx Revolutionary Horizons Renee Hudson, 2024-05-07 A necessary reconceptualization of Latinx identity literature and politics In Latinx Revolutionary Horizons Renee Hudson theorizes a liberatory latinidad that is not yet here and conceptualizes a hemispheric project in which contemporary Latinx authors return to earlier moments of revolution Rather than viewing Latinx as solely a category of identification she argues for an expansive historicized sense of the term that illuminates its political potential Claiming the x in Latinx as marking the suspension and tension between how Latin American descended people identify and the future politics the x points us toward Hudson contends that latinidad can signal a politics grounded in shared struggles and histories rather than merely a mode of identification In this way Latinx Revolutionary Horizons reads against current calls for cancelling latinidad based on its presumed anti Black and anti Indigenous framework Instead she examines the not yet here of latinidad to investigate the connection between the revolutionary history of the Americas and the creation of new genres in the hemisphere from conversion narratives and dictator novels to neoslave narratives and testimonios By comparing colonialisms she charts a revolutionary genealogy across a range of movements such as the Mexican Revolution the Filipino People Power Revolution resistance to Trujillo in the Dominican Republic and the Cuban Revolution In pairing nineteenth century authors alongside contemporary Latinx ones Hudson examines a longer genealogy of Latinx resistance while expanding its literary canon from the works of Jos Rizal and Martin Delany to those of Julia Alvarez Jessica Hagedorn and Leslie Marmon Silko In imagining a truly transnational latinidad Latinx Revolutionary Horizons thus rewrites our understanding of the nationalist formations that continue to characterize Latinx Studies
