The Forces of the Ablative in Caesar's Gallic War Claribel Corinne Chappell, 1910

The Semitic Languages Stefan Weninger, 2011-12-23 The handbook The Semitic Languages offers a comprehensive reference tool for Semitic Linguistics in its broad sense. It is not restricted to comparative Grammar although it covers also comparative aspects including classification. By comprising a chapter on typology and sections with sociolinguistic focus and language contact the conception of the book aims at a rather complete unbiased description of the state of the art in Semitics. Articles on individual languages and dialects give basic facts as location numbers of speakers scripts numbers of extant texts and their nature attestation where appropriate and salient features of the grammar and lexicon of the respective variety. The handbook is the most comprehensive treatment of the Semitic language family since many decades.

Habakkuk: The Christian Standard Commentary Susan Maxwell Booth, 2024-06-15 Habakkuk: The Christian Standard Commentary is part of The Christian Standard Commentary CSC series. This commentary series focuses on the theological and exegetical concerns of each biblical book thoughtfully balancing rigorous scholarship with practical application.

The Semitic Languages John Huehnergard, Na'ama Pat-El, 2013-10-08 The Semitic Languages presents a unique comprehensive survey of individual languages or language clusters from their origins in antiquity to their present day forms. The Semitic family occupies a position of great historical and linguistic significance: the spoken and written languages of the Phoenicians, Hebrews, and Arabs spread throughout Asia and northern and central Africa. The Old Semitic civilizations in turn contributed significantly to European culture and modern Hebrew, modern literary Arabic, Amharic, and Tigrinya have become their nations' official languages. The book is divided into three parts and each chapter presents a self-contained article written by a recognized expert in the field. I. General Issues providing an introduction to the grammatical traditions, subgrouping, and writing systems of this language family. II. Old Semitic Languages. III. Modern Semitic Languages. Parts II and III contain structured chapters which enable the reader to access and compare information easily. These individual descriptions of each language or cluster include phonology, morphology, syntax, lexis, and dialects. Suggestions are made for the most useful sources of further reading and the work is comprehensively indexed.

A chronological study is presented wherein the major phases of Pharaonic Egypt, Old Kingdom to the Ptolemaic Period, are covered. In particular, differences in arrangement of these private celebrations, both within a
