Cooking and Coping Among the Cacti Roberta D. Baer,2014-05-01 Using data collected from 105 households in Sonora Mexico the author combines detailed ethnographic research with quantitative analyses of income diet and nutritional status to examine the dietary patterns of residents who cook and cope among the cacti Employing a new analytical concept of available income which can differ greatly from total income and provide valuable insight into why people eat what they do the work explores a variety of social and cultural factors that affect food expenditure and consumption Home production of food and the extent to which women are employed outside of the home are just two of the many variables discussed that influence available income and how it is used But even among groups with similar available incomes variables of ethnicity prestige nutritional knowledge and the desire for consumer goods come into play

The Nutrient-Dense Eating Plan Douglas L. Margel,2005 Nutrient dense eating refers to the nutritional quality of a food and to the highly concentrated vitally important foods eaten on the plan They are the opposite of empty calorie foods that eventually degrade health and lead to debilitating diseases says the author Douglas Margel He believes the dominant eating disorder of this culture is the ambivalent adversarial relationship people have with food and we should reconnect to ancestral wisdom and eat as if it really mattered

Ewoodzie Jr.,2023-10-31 James Beard Foundation Book Award Nominee Winner of the Ida B Wells Barnett Book Award Association of Black Sociologists Winner of the C Wright Mills Award the Society for the Study of Social Problems A vivid portrait of African American life in today's urban South that uses food to explore the complex interactions of race and class Getting Something to Eat in Jackson uses food what people eat and how to explore the interaction of race and class in the lives of African Americans in the contemporary urban South Joseph Ewoodzie Jr examines how foodways food availability choice and consumption vary greatly between classes of African Americans in Jackson Mississippi and how this reflects and shapes their very different experiences of a shared racial identity Ewoodzie spent more than a year following a group of socioeconomically diverse African Americans from upper middle class patrons of the city's fine dining restaurants to men experiencing homelessness who must organize their days around the schedules of soup kitchens Ewoodzie goes food shopping cooks and eats with a young mother living in poverty and a grandmother working two jobs He works in a Black owned BBQ restaurant and he meets a man who decides to become a vegan for health reasons but who must drive across town to get tofu and quinoa Ewoodzie also learns about how soul food is changing and why it is no longer a staple survival food Throughout he shows how food choices influence and are influenced by the racial and class identities of Black Jacksonians By tracing these contemporary African American foodways Getting Something to Eat in Jackson offers new insights into the lives of Black Southerners and helps challenge the persistent homogenization of blackness in American life
