Making Sense of Statistics Fred Pyrczak, Deborah M. Oh, 2018-06-13 Making Sense of Statistics is the ideal introduction to the concepts of descriptive and inferential statistics for students undertaking their first research project It presents each statistical concept in a series of short steps then uses worked examples and exercises to enable students to apply their own learning It focuses on presenting the why as well as the how of statistical concepts rather than computations

and formulae so is suitable for students from all disciplines regardless of mathematical background Only statistical techniques that are almost universally included in introductory statistics courses and widely reported in journals have been included Once students understand and feel comfortable with the statistics that meet these criteria they should find it easy to master additional statistical concepts New to the Seventh Edition Retaining the key features and organization that have made this book an indispensable text for teaching and learning the basic concepts of statistical analysis this new edition features discussion of the use of observation in quantitative and qualitative research the inclusion of introductions to the book and each Part section objectives listed at the beginning of each section to guide the reader new material on key topics such as z scores probability Central Limit Theorem Standard Deviation and simple and multiple regression Expanded discussion on t test with separate sections for independent and dependent samples t tests as well as one sample t test progressive analysis of bivariate vs multivariate statistics starts with the basic concepts and moves to more complex analysis as the student progresses updated and extended pedagogical material such as Chapter Objectives exercises and worked examples to test and enhance student s understanding of the material presented in the chapter Bolded key terms with definitions and Glossary for quick referral expanded Appendices include a brief reference list of some common computational formulas and examples a Glossary of key terms has been added at the end of the book with references to sections in parenthesis New online instructor resources for classroom use consisting of test bank questions and Powerpoint slides plus material on basic math review

Using the Google Places API and Google Trends Data to Develop High Frequency Indicators of Economic Activity Mr. Paul A Austin,Paul Austin,Mr. Marco Marini,Alberto Sanchez,Chima Simpson-Bell,James Tebrake,2021-12-17 As the pandemic heighthened policymakers demand for more frequent and timely indicators to assess economic activities traditional data collection and compilation methods to produce official indicators are falling short triggering stronger interest in real time data to provide early signals of turning points in economic activity In this paper we examine how data extracted from the Google Places API and Google Trends can be used to develop high frequency indicators aligned to the statistical concepts classifications and definitions used in producing official measures The approach is illustrated by use of Google data derived indicators that predict well the GDP trajectories of selected countries during the early stage of COVID 19 To this end we developed a methodological toolkit for national compilers interested in using Google data to enhance the timeliness and frequency of economic indicators
