Writer Written:

How We Write Mike Sharples, 2002-11-01 How We Write is an accessible guide to the entire writing process from forming ideas to formatting text. Combining new explanations of creativity with insights into writing as design, it offers a full account of the mental, physical, and social aspects of writing. How We Write explores how children learn to write, the importance of reflective thinking, processes of planning, composing, and revising, visual design of text, cultural influences on writing, global hypertext, and the future of collaborative and on-line writing. By referring to a wealth of examples from writers such as Umberto Eco, Terry Pratchett, and Ian Fleming, How We Write ultimately teaches us how to control and extend our own writing abilities. How We Write will be of value to students and teachers of language and psychology, professional and aspiring writers, and anyone interested in this familiar yet complex activity.

In this very practical book for teachers and support teachers, based on extensive work in the classroom, Brigid

Smith shows how to exploit the links between writing and reading to give children the all important experience of literacy The children with whom she works are encouraged to dictate their own stories to a helper and then to read these back From their success in this they are gradually guided towards the skills needed to decode unfamiliar text At the same time the stories increasingly acquire features characteristic of written rather than oral language and in editing them the children practice compositional skills which would otherwise be beyond their reach Brigid Smith explains how teachers can use this approach in their own classrooms with different kinds of texts with individuals with groups and with children of all abilities While her emphasis is on enjoyment and independence for the reader she also shows how the method she suggests can fulfil the requirements of the National Curriculum and how progress can be monitored for assessment purposes Teaching Creative Writing Helen Stockton,2014-04-03 If you teach creative writing or facilitate a writing group you will want to inspire inform and encourage would be writers This book is a unique practical resource offering guidance ideas and exercises to help you do just that It moves from planning and structuring courses to giving ideas and exercises on all the key aspects of creative writing providing a wealth of really useful advice and tips It will enable you to pass on your particular expertise and enthusiasm imaginatively and professionally to all your students Guidance on teaching all the skills of creative writing Ideas on lesson content example exercises and setting homework Support on dealing with problems and adapting for different abilities Tips on group management and feedback A Z of specific genres with examples of learning activities This book will ensure that your teaching will be effective fun and immensely rewarding Feedback That Moves Writers Forward Patty McGee,2017-03-03 Student writing is only as good as the feedback we give In this remarkable book Patty McGee shares research based how to s for responding to writers that you can use immediately whether you use a writing program or a workshop model Put down the red pen fix it mindset and help your writers take risks use grammar as an element of craft discover their writing identities elaborate in any genre and more Includes lots of helpful conference language that develops tone and trust and forms for reflecting on writing Writing After Postcolonialism Jane Hiddleston,2017-09-21 Focusing on francophone writing from North Africa as it has developed since the 1980s Writing After Postcolonialism explores the extent to which the notion of postcolonialism is still resonant for literary writers a generation or more after independence and examines the troubled status of literature in society and politics during this period Whilst analysing the ways in which writers from Algeria Morocco and Tunisia have reacted to political unrest and social dissatisfaction Jane Hiddleston offers a compelling reflection on literature s ability to interrogate the postcolonial nation as well as on its own uncertain role in the current context The book sets out both to situate the recent generation of francophone writers in North Africa in relation to contemporary politics to postcolonial theory and evolving notions of world literature and to probe the ways in which a new and highly sophisticated set of writers reflect on the very notion of the literary during this period of transition Modern Letter Writing ,1903 Automatic Writing Anita Mary Mühl,1930 The Shorthand Writer ,1887 Teaching
