The Time Dimension T K. Das,1990-04-17 This is the first comprehensive bibliography of temporal scholarship research on the subject of time and the phenomenon of time itself As the author notes in his introduction the nature of research insights on the subject of time is difficult to comprehend within the confines of any specific discipline since relevant materials are scattered throughout the literature in numerous scholarly fields By bringing together the most significant published works in a wide variety of disciplines this unique compendium enables scholars and researchers to look beyond their own particular area of expertise when selecting appropriate resource materials Throughout the focus is on the time dimension itself as a problematic or researchable phenomenon rather than on narrow topics such as time management time series analysis or forecasting Organized by discipline the work begins with an initial chapter that lists general works on the time dimension Nineteen chapters then list works in particular disciplines ranging from anthropology and culture to biology economics futures studies history linguistics management studies psychology and more The final chapter lists miscellaneous entries which could not be categorized into any of the specific disciplinary headings Within each chapter entries are arranged alphabetically by author or editor Nearly all sources are from scholarly journals and books

Temporal Query Language Richard T. Snodgrass,2012-12-06 Temporal databases have been an active research topic for at least fifteen years During this time several dozen temporal query languages have been proposed Many within the temporal database research community perceived that the time had come to consolidate approaches to temporal data models and calculus based query languages to achieve a consensus query language and associated data model upon which future research can be based While there were many query language proposals with a diversity of language and modeling constructs common themes kept resurfacing However the community was quite fragmented with each research project being based on a particular and different set of assumptions and approaches Often these assumptions were not germane to the research per se but were made simply because the research required a data model or query language with certain characteristics with the particular one chosen rather arbitrarily It would be better in such circumstances for research projects to choose the same language Unfortunately no existing language had attracted a following large enough to become the one of choice In April 1992 Richard Snodgrass circulated a white paper that proposed that a temporal extension to SQL be produced by the research community Shortly thereafter the temporal database community organized the ARPA NSF International Workshop on an Infrastructure for Temporal Databases which was held in Arlington TX in June 1993
