Tinker Jim:

Drama, Literacy and Moral Education 5-11 Joe Winston, 2013-12-19 First Published in 2000 Since before modern schooling before literacy itself stories have been told in every culture not only as a form of entertainment but also as a means of transmitting values from one generation to the next Narrative story can be seen as one of the fundamental ways in which the human mind interprets and speculates upon the world and translates lived experience into conceptual understanding Many good stories of whatever genre that do present themselves as vehicles to develop literacy whether short stories picture books traditional tales recent or classic novels will very often present equally exciting possibilities for moral learning This book seeks to help primary teachers use selected stories not only to develop literacy but also to plan for drama work that can harness the potential for social and moral education itself an area under increasing attention from central government agencies Christian Advocate, 1918 The Vassar Miscellany, 1899 Chatterbox, 1874 Domestic Engineering, 1920 Rob Neyer's Big Book of Baseball Lineups Rob Neyer, 2003-06-02 Presents a series of lineups from each baseball franchise and explores the careers of baseball players both famous and obscure The School, 1928 One Thousand Temperance Anecdotes, Facts, Jokes, Riddles, Puns and Smart Sayings, Suitable for Speakers, Penny Readings, Recitations, Etc., Original and Selected John William Kirton, 1877 Domestic Engineering and the Journal of Mechanical Contracting, 1920 The "tinkers" in Irish Literature José Lanthers, 2008 Irish travellers or tinkers have appeared as characters in Irish literature since the early nineteenth century Representations of this semi nomadic cultural and ethnic minority in works by non traveller authors almost invariably function in some way within the context of Irish identity politics whereby the tinker often serves as a primitive Other to a modern civilized Irish Self This study considers the tinker character in a large body of serious and popular literary texts some well known others rarely if ever discussed and traces how the literary construct of the tinker figure as domestic or foreign Other evolves over time Three chapters concentrate on specific historical contexts as the tinker shifts from being a relatively straightforward scapegoat in the literature of the early nineteenth century to being a more complex and ambiguous embodiment of both the aspirations and anxieties of the Anglo Irish writers of the Revival to being a barometer of aspects of modernity and regression in the mid twentieth century Irish Republic Three further chapters focus on thematic contexts that have particular relevance for the development of the tinker figure children s literature from and about Ireland fabulist narratives particularly those with plot configurations derived from Celtic mythology and crime and detective fiction set in Ireland Finally the way in which individual travellers represent themselves in autobiographical narratives of the late twentieth century is considered often in response to the fictional tinker stereotype that has persisted in sedentary society and its cultural expressions for centuries Kelly's Woolwich, Plumstead, Shooter's Hill & Charlton directory. 1st-20th annual issue Kelly's directories, ltd, 1905 Kelly's directory of Leeds and its neighbourhood. 2nd-38th ed Kelly's directories, ltd, 1886 One Thousand
