Women Write From Life:

Women's Life-writing Linda S. Coleman,1997 The essays in this collection offer readers vivid and varied evidence of the female response to recurring attempts by culture to artificially limit identity along the gendered lines of private and public experience Calling on voices both familiar and little known British and American black and white young and old poor and rich heterosexual and lesbian the essayists explore how women within unique personal and historical conditions used life writing as a means of both self understanding and connection to a community of sympathetic others real or imagined The life writings within this anthology span the modern history of the genre itself with writers drawn from as early as the seventeenth century and as late as the 1990s

Feminism and Women's Writing Catherine Riley,2018-02-09 Explores the transformative reign of the Catholic King James VII and the revolution that brought about his fall Women Write from Life ,1984

Girl in a Library Kelly Cherry,2009 In this essay collection Cherry explores the craft of writing tracing her own development from rebellious college student to award winning author of 19 books of poetry fiction short fiction and criticism She discusses her early life in Ithaca New York as the child of struggling musicians busy trying to survive and with little time for parenting She was kicked out of college twice but over the years she wrote and then receiving little encouragement quit Finally she entered the writing programme at the University of North Carolina and achieved success Cherry s essays are on topics such as writing reading life with reflections on beauty art vocation as well as essays of literary criticism on the works of American women writers Publisher s description

Women's Writing and the Circulation of Ideas George Justice,Nathan Tinker,2002-03-07 It was widely believed that women in Renaissance and early modern England either did not write or did not publish their work It has become clear that instead of using the emerging technology of print many women writers circulated their works by hand with friends copying and recopying poems plays and novels from each other or with the help of professional scribes Through manuscript publication women s writing reached wide audiences and was collected and admired by both men and women Women s Writing and the Circulation of Ideas contributes to the discovery and re evaluation of women writers by examining the writing and manuscript publication of key authors from 1550 to 1800 The collection s analysis of the range and meaning of women s writing and manuscript publication during the rise of the print industry alters our understanding of the history of the book and early modern British literature alike

Women's Life Writing and Imagined Communities Cynthia Anne Huff,2005 Recognising the great legacy of women s life writings this book draws on a wealth of sources to critically examine the impact of these writings on our communities Women's Writing of the Victorian Period 1837-1901

Harriet Devine Jump,2019-07-31 This ground breaking anthology brings together a wide selection of women s writings from the Victorian period excluding fiction and drama most of which cannot be easily found elsewhere There are writings from more than 60 authors including such well known writers as Harriet Martineau Laetitia Landon Frances Trollope Elizabeth Barrett Browning Charlotte Bronte Emily Bronte Florence Nightingale Elizabeth

British Women's Writing, 1930 to 1960 Sue Kennedy, Jane Thomas, 2020-07-17 This volume contributes to the vibrant ongoing recuperative work on women's writing by shedding new light on a group of authors commonly dismissed as middlebrow in their concerns and conservative in their styles and politics The neologism interfeminism coined to partner Kristin Bluemel's intermodernism locates this group chronologically and ideologically between two waves of feminism whilst also forging connections between the political and cultural monoliths that have traditionally overshadowed them Drawing attention to the strengths of this out of category writing in its own right this volume also highlights how intersecting discourses of gender class and society in the interwar and postwar periods pave the way for the bold reassessments of female subjectivity that characterise second and third wave feminism The essays showcase the stylistic cultural and political vitality of a substantial group of women authors of fiction non fiction drama poetry and journalism including Vera Brittain Storm Jameson Nancy Mitford Phyllis Shand Allfrey Rumer Godden Attia Hosain Doris Lessing Kamala Markandaya Susan Ertz Marghanita Laski Elizabeth Bowen Edith Pargeter Eileen Bigland Nancy Spain Vera Laughton Matthews Pamela Hansford Johnson Dorothy Whipple Elizabeth Taylor Daphne du Maurier Barbara Comyns Shelagh Delaney Stevie Smith and Penelope Mortimer Additional exploration of the popular magazines Woman's Weekly and Good Housekeeping and new material from the Vera Brittain archive add an innovative dimension to original readings of the literature of a transformative period of British social and cultural history List of contributors Natasha Periyar Eleanor Reed Maroula Joannou Lola Serraf Sue Kennedy Ana Ashraf Chris Hopkins Gill Plain Lucy Hall Katherine Cooper Nick Turner Maria Elena Capitani James Underwood and Jane Thomas

The History of British Women's Writing, 1830-1880 Lucy Hartley, 2018-09-22 This volume charts the rise of professional women writers across diverse fields of intellectual enquiry and through different modes of writing in the period immediately before and during the reign of Queen Victoria It demonstrates how between 1830 and 1880 the woman writer became an agent of cultural formation and contestation appealing to and enabling the growth of female readership while issuing a challenge to the authority of male writers and critics Of especial importance were changing definitions of marriage family and nation of class and of morality as well as new conceptions of sexuality and gender and of sympathy and sensation The result is a richly textured account of a radical and complex process of feminization whereby formal innovations in the different modes of writing by women became central to the aesthetic social and political formation of British culture and society in the nineteenth century

Women's Life Writing and the Practice of Reading Valerie Baisnee-Keay, Corinne Bigot, Nicoleta Alexoae-Zagni, 2019-07-26 This collection of essays offers a stimulating insight into the practice of reading and the relationship between reading and writing in women's life writing texts such as memoirs autobiographies diaries travel logs and graphic memoirs It covers a great variety of writers from literary classics such as Virginia Woolf to the authors of slave narratives Some essays focus on how literary texts help frame a narrative of the self acting as models and counter models others insist on the role of literature in resisting imposed gendered and ethnic identities The essays also show that female writers use reading to deepen their relationship to the rest of the world While reading is often represented as central to life and aesthetic experience the collection stresses that there is no single or universal approach to reading in women's life writing Taking into account debates about life writing the collection opens new fields of investigation and fully participates in current scholarly conversations in the field
