Cultural Theory in the Films of Alfred Hitchcock Gary McCarron, 2023-07-11 This book is neither biography nor a conventional film critique Rather the text explores aspects of Hitchcock's work in relation to theories drawn from the social sciences and philosophy The various chapters focus not on specific films but on broader ideas central to Hitchcock's work There is for instance a chapter on his idea of the MacGuffin in which I use Ernesto Laclau's theories of equivalent substitution to explain how the MacGuffin functions in Hitchcock's works There is also a chapter on his notion of pure cinema which moves from the idea of purity as an anthropological concept to consider purity in relation to current debates regarding so called hybrid media and Hitchcock's relevance to these issues in respect of his dissatisfaction with the advent of sound to the cinema world Broadly speaking the book uses Hitchcock's films to illustrate ideas in the social sciences and philosophy and uses those same ideas to illustrate aspects of Hitchcock's films Mad World: The Seduction of Insanity Mark

Romel, 2018-02-07 Blaise Pascal said Men are so necessarily mad that not to be mad would amount to another form of madness Crazy people get locked up Their madness is easy to detect They have drastically disordered thoughts It's as if their dream content is leaking into their daytime reality They don't make sense They can't keep it together They're incoherent They can't interact meaningfully with others They have lost touch with reality But what if there's a second kind of madness a much more subtle and dangerous kind that goes unnoticed In this version of madness people have ordered thoughts indeed often highly ordered They make sense They keep it together They can meaningfully interact with others often brilliantly and they seem completely in touch with reality What's not to like Not one of them is locked up Far from it In fact some of them are running our world The Destruction and Re-creation of the 'Hitchcock Blonde' in "The Birds and Marnie"
