May 27 to 31 in Montreal was the first truly international computer graphics conference in Canada. This year for the first time the conference was presented jointly by the Computer Graphics Society and the Canadian Man Computer Communications Society. This new arrangement gave the conference international scope. The conference was sponsored by the Department of Communications in Ottawa, the Department of Science and Technology in Quebec, Supply and Services Canada, the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada, Hydro Quebec, the Association Canadienne Française pour l'Avancement des Sciences, and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. Graphics Interface 85 was organized by 1 Ecole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales of the University of Montreal. Over 100 papers were submitted to the conference but 64 were selected by the international program committee for presentation. This book contains new expanded versions of the papers.

Performance Evaluation for Computer Image Synthesis Systems. University of California, Berkeley. Computer Science Division, Ricki Blau, 1992. This dissertation applies performance analysis to the problem of computing complex three-dimensional images. First it identifies factors that affect the cost of image synthesis and characterizes the complexity of realistic images. Four categories of performance factors are defined: scene characteristics, viewing specifications, rendering parameters, and the computing environment. This classification provides a framework for discussing image complexity and designing performance experiments. The complexity of several complex images from an actual animation workload is described in detail.

Computer Graphics for Architects, Engineers, and Environmental Designers D. Dayton Reuter, 2002.
