An Analysis of the Knowledge and Use of English Collocations by French and Japanese Learners Shino Kurosaki, 2013-11 The present study investigated differences on the knowledge and use of collocations between French and Japanese learners with regard to 1 L1 influence and 2 combinability and transparency influence The test materials included four categories of the lexical collocations 1 verb noun 2 delexicalised verb noun 3 adjective noun and 4 adverb adjective The two types of tasks Multiple Choice Question Tasks and Translation Tasks are performed and the learner corpora are also investigated in order to examine whether the learners from different L1 backgrounds demonstrate different results Though L1 influence by both French and Japanese learners was demonstrated the Japanese learners showed a greater L1 influence in the adjective noun category than the French learners The investigation also found that L1 influence does not necessarily result in accuracy of the collocations With regard to the combinability and transparency influence the results of the two types of tasks followed Kellerman s 1978 remark However some contrasted results were also identified in learner corpus investigation Thus the combinability and transparency influence were not necessarily identified The results of the present study have a potential to improve teaching learning of collocations through recognizing the learners tendencies of learning collocations
