Using Online Dictionaries Carolin Müller-Spitzer, 2014-02-27 Until now there has been very little research into the use of online dictionaries In contrast the market for online dictionaries is increasing both for academic lexicography and for commercial lexicography with sales figures for printed reference works in continual decline This has led to a demand for reliable empirical information on how online dictionaries are actually being used and how they could be made more user friendly The volume Using Online Dictionaries makes a substantial contribution to closing this research gap It is divided into four parts The first part contains articles on fundamental issues a research review of the empirical studies on digital dictionaries which have already been carried out and a brief methodological guideline for lexicographical researchers who are interested in conducting their own empirical research The second part contains the results of two studies that focus on general questions about the use of online dictionaries It presents empirical data on contexts of dictionary use on expectations and demands regarding online dictionaries Furthermore innovative features such as the use of multimedia elements or the option of a user adaptive interface and questions of design were assessed empirically The third part of this volume comprises more specific studies of online dictionaries an eye tracking study evaluating the new web design of the dictionary portal OWID and a log file study which tries to get to the bottom of the following question Do dictionary users look up frequent words or put differently is there a connection between how often a word is looked up and how often it appears in a corpus In the last chapter of this thematic section the question of how users judge the combination of a written paraphrase and an additional illustration in illustrated online dictionaries is addressed The last part focuses on the use of monolingual dictionaries in particular the German online dictionary elexiko In this context two online questionnaire based studies were carried out The empirical studies were conducted in the form of online surveys combining questionnaires and experimental elements and in the form of laboratory studies using eye tracking technology as well as using observational methods such as log file analyses Regarding the comprehensive research framework this volume can be relevant to lexicographers metalexigraphers and linguists who are interested in the use of online dictionaries and in the development and exploration of lexicographical data for the internet as well as linguists interested in empirical methods It addresses a broad expert audience by presenting an academic subject which is currently the focus of much discussion Language and Emotion. Volume 2 Gesine Lenore Schiewer, Jeanette Altarriba, Bee Chin Ng, 2022-11-07 The handbook Language and Emotion is intended to give a historical and systematic profile of the area It will aim to connect contemporary and historical theories approaches and applications and to cover eastern and western perspectives of language communication and emotion It will present all relevant aspects of language and emotion and thus contribute significantly to research in the field of linguistics and semiotics of emotion Teaching Translation and Interpreting 2 Cay Dollerup, Annette Lindegaard, 1994-07-01 Selected papers from this second conference on Translator and Interpreter Training With contributions from five continents the articles deal with global challenges taking into account the role of the translator in societies knit together by one tongue and those in which languages are the repositories of national cultures such as India The main merit of this volume is that it shows how translator training is tackled in the main translator training courses around the world what requirements are made on the students and what solutions are given The various approaches provide a wealth of translator training ideas Complementing the first volume of papers from the Language International conference this second volume deals with a wide variety of aspects in this interdisciplinary field of study dubbing subtitling simultaneous consecutive interpreting court interpreter training linguistic features cognitive aspects cultural aspects terminology and specialisation computeraided translation in practice translation procedures at the European Commission etc Handbook of Communication Competence Gert Rickheit, Hans Strohner, 2008 The Handbooks of Applied Linguistics provide a state of the art description of established and emerging areas of Applied Linguistics Each volume gives an overview of the field explains the most important traditions and their findings identifies the gaps in current research and gives perspectives for future directions Ethnographies of Academic Writing Research Ignacio Guillén-Galve, Ana Bocanegra-Valle, 2021-10-15 This book illustrates the use of ethnography as an analytical approach to investigate academic writing and provides critical insights into how academic writing research can benefit from the use of ethnographic methods Throughout its six theoretical and practice oriented studies together with the introductory chapter foreword and afterword ethnography related concepts like thick description deep theorizing participatory research research reflexivity or ethics are discussed against the affordances of ethnography for the study of academic writing The book is key reading for scholars researchers and instructors in the areas of applied linguistics academic writing academic literacies and genre studies It will also be useful to those lecturers and postgraduate students working in English for Academic Purposes and disciplinary writing The volume provides ethnographically oriented researchers with clear pointers about how to incorporate the telling of the inside story into their traditional main role as observers

History and Ideology in the Old Testament Prophetic Literature Antti Laato,1996 In this study arguments are put forward for the thesis that biblical exegesis of the Old Testament prophetic literature is not a simple matter of interpreting texts but is also a process in which logical models or possible worlds are constructed to accommodate the validity of particular interpretations The lack of a model theoretical orientation to Old Testament methodological approaches has led to a situation in which the criticism of particular theories rarely addresses the real points of disagreement between scholars One theory is simply set against another even though the theories would be more effectively evaluated by discussing the validity and relevance of the different models in which they are framed There are various plausible and relevant models available for the interpretation of Old Testament texts In order to compare these different models a metalogical system Charles Sanders Peirce s semiotics has been used throughout this study Many important methodological issues are discussed in this study a

is used for instance to generate dialogue turns from dialogue moves verbalise the content of knowledge bases or generate English sentences from rich linguistic representations such as dependency trees or abstract meaning representations Text production is also at work in text to text transformations such as sentence compression sentence fusion paraphrasing sentence or text simplification and text summarisation This book offers an overview of the fundamentals of neural models for text production In particular we elaborate on three main aspects of neural approaches to text production how sequential decoders learn to generate adequate text how encoders learn to produce better input representations and how neural generators account for task specific objectives Indeed each text production task raises a slightly different challenge e g how to take the dialogue context into account when producing a dialogue turn how to detect and merge relevant information when summarising a text or how to produce a well formed text that correctly captures the information contained in some input data in the case of data to text generation We outline the constraints specific to some of these tasks and examine how existing neural models account for them More generally this book considers text to text meaning to text and data to text transformations It aims to provide the audience with a basic knowledge of neural approaches to text production and a roadmap to get them started with the related work The book is mainly targeted at researchers graduate students and industrials interested in text production from different forms of inputs
