

Ed Ruscha and Huntsman for the Alzheimer's Association

BY ALEXANDRA OWENS | 29 OCT 2016

NEW YORK — Ed Ruscha fans have a chance to bid on an exclusive new work — though they might be surprised by the medium. To benefit the Alzheimer's Association, Huntsman Savile Row and the celebrated American artist have designed a one-of-a-kind tuxedo jacket lined with a silk print of his 1986 painting "Boy Meets Girl." owned by actress and model Lauren Hutton. Made-to-measure for the winning bidder, the bespoke piece is one of six editions to be produced (though the only one to be sold) and comes with a personal invitation to visit Ruscha's Los Angeles studio.

"I like the idea of a concealed secret," says Ruscha. "When someone wears a great jacket, there is a private luxury that only the wearer can experience, almost like you are flashing."

From printing the lining to tailoring the classic silhouette, the entire process was a collaborative effort that lasted almost a year. "Technically, it's quite a task that you have to take on," says Carol Plunk, general manager at Huntsman, a brand that has dressed everyone from Queen Victoria and Winston Churchill to Katharine Hepburn and Marc Jacobs. "You cut the actual lining so that all the detail of the painting matches up perfectly."

All proceeds from the sale will benefit the Alzheimer's Association. Silent auction bids are currently being accepted online until 12 PM (Noon) ET on 25 October before the 33rd Annual Rita Hayworth Gala at Cipriani 42nd Street in New York City, where the highest online bid will become the opening bid during the evening's live charity auction, conducted by Sotheby's Vice Chairman, Americas Hugh Hidesley.

Comics Versus Art Bart Beaty,2012-07-17 On the surface the relationship between comics and the high arts once seemed simple comic books and strips could be mined for inspiration but were not themselves considered legitimate art objects Though this traditional distinction has begun to erode the worlds of comics and art continue to occupy vastly different social spaces Comics Versus Art examines the relationship between comics and the most important institutions of the art world including museums auction houses and the art press Bart Beaty s analysis centres around two questions why were comics

excluded from the history of art for most of the twentieth century and what does it mean that comics production is now more closely aligned with the art world Approaching this relationship for the first time through the lens of the sociology of culture Beauty advances a completely novel approach to the comics form Waterstone's Guide to Books Waterstone & Co,1988
