Star Rhythms William Lonsdale, 1979 Star Rhythms Barbara Wood Hilton, 1994 Pawnee Music Frances Densmore, 1929 Dreamlands Chrissie Iles, 2016-01-01 A fascinating survey of pioneering work in experimental cinema and art from 1905 to the present day revealing the high stakes and transformative potential of these forms This generously illustrated publication surveys the work of filmmakers and artists who have pushed the material and conceptual boundaries of cinema Over the past century the material optical abstract spatial and tactile properties of film have been tested at a level of experimentation and utopian ambition that is generally unrecognized Whether creating synesthetic or 3 D environments projective or non projective installations generations of leading edge artists have explored how technology transforms experience The essays published here offer an intensive look at the themes of cinematic space formats of the screen animation and CGI the body and the cyborg and the materiality of film Contributors place particular emphasis on the idea of the cinema as a sensorium and on the ways in which it defines the human body both through representation and in relation to the projected image An immersive plate section brings together rarely seen and previously unpublished stills in addition to concept drawings from historic and contemporary films The Night Sky, Updated and Expanded Edition Richard Grossinger, 2014-09-30 Ever since Homo sapiens first looked up at the stars we as a species have been looking for meaning in the mysteries of the night sky Over the millennia as our knowledge science and technology developed the stories we told ourselves about the universe and our place in it developed as well In The Night Sky Richard Grossinger traces those developments covering multiple aspects of humanity s complex relationship to the cosmos Covering not only astronomy but also cosmology cosmogony astrology and science fiction he offers us a revelatory look at the firmament through his own telescope fitted with an anthropological lens Throughout his explorations Grossinger continually reflects on the deeper meaning of our changing concepts about the universe and creation offering insight into how each new discovery causes us to redefine the values moralities and aesthetics by which we live He also calls into question the self aggrandizing notion that humanity can and will conquer all and injects our strident confidence in science with a healthy dose of humility and wonder Filled with poetic observation and profound questions The Night Sky is a brilliant reflection of humanity s relationship with the cosmos a relationship fed by longing doubt and awe The Nature of Substance Rudolf Hauschka, 2002 What is the nature of matter Within conventional science the reductionist materialist view asserts that matter is solely physical Hauschka shows that open minded study based on qualitative observation and quantitative research can overcome this now standardized view Without denying the laws of matter he shows the limitations of a science restricted by them and points to new research that indicates the primal nature of spirit This classic work reprinted in its original form is the result of Dr Hauschka s many years research at the Ita Wegman Clinic in Arlesheim Switzerland Through decades of experimentation he came to radical conclusions that suggested potential new directions for science This book includes the detailed results of

Hauschka's experiments although his approach is not restricted to measurement and outer observation. Based on the work of Goethe and Steiner, he encourages a method of seeing nature that has an artistic quality and calls for direct experience rather than intellectual theorizing. The Nature of Substance is generally accessible. The author deliberately avoids technical terms and academic style in favor of vivid descriptions and lively discussions. His fascinating study takes in many substances with chapters on plants, animals, oils, proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, metals, carbon, oxygen, poisons, high dilutions, and much more. This book is a companion volume to the author's other work, Nutrition. Read, Listen, Tell Sophie McCall, Deanna Reder, David Gaertner, Gabrielle L'Hirondelle Hill, 2017-05-26. Don't say in the years to come that you would have lived your life differently if only you had heard this story. You've heard it now. Thomas King in this volume, Read Listen Tell, brings together an extraordinary range of Indigenous stories from across Turtle Island, North America. From short fiction to as told to narratives, from illustrated stories to personal essays, these stories celebrate the strength of heritage and the liveliness of innovation. Ranging in tone from humorous to defiant to triumphant, the stories explore core concepts in Indigenous literary expression such as the relations between land, language, and community, the variety of narrative forms, and the continuities between oral and written forms of expression. Rich in insight and bold in execution, the stories proclaim the diversity, vitality, and depth of Indigenous writing. Building on two decades of scholarly work to centre Indigenous knowledges and perspectives, the book transforms literary method while respecting and honouring Indigenous histories and peoples of these lands. It includes stories by acclaimed writers like Thomas King, Sherman Alexie, Paula Gunn Allen, and Eden Robinson, a new generation of emergent writers and writers and storytellers who have often been excluded from the canon, such as French and Spanish language Indigenous authors, Indigenous authors from Mexico, Chicana/o authors, Indigenous language authors, works in translation, and lost or underappreciated texts. In a place and time when Indigenous people often have to contend with representations that marginalize or devalue their intellectual and cultural heritage, this collection is a testament to Indigenous resilience and creativity. It shows that the ways in which we read, listen, and tell play key roles in how we establish relationships with one another and how we might share knowledges across cultures, languages, and social spaces.

New York Star, 1924. The Native American Renaissance. Alan R. Velie, A. Robert Lee, 2013-11-11. The outpouring of Native American literature that followed the publication of N. Scott Momaday's Pulitzer Prize-winning House Made of Dawn in 1968 continues unabated. Fiction and poetry, autobiography and discursive writing from such writers as James Welch, Gerald Vizenor, and Leslie Marmon Silko constitute what critic Kenneth Lincoln in 1983 termed the Native American Renaissance. This collection of essays takes the measure of that efflorescence. The contributors scrutinize writers from Momaday to Sherman Alexie, analyzing works by Native women, First Nations, Canadian writers, postmodernists, and such theorists as Robert Warrior, Jace Weaver, and Craig Womack. Weaver's own examination of the development of Native literary criticism since 1968 focuses on Native American literary nationalism. Alan R. Velie turns to the achievement of Momaday to examine the ways Native novelists have influenced one another Post renaissance and postmodern writers are discussed in company with newer writers such as Gordon Henry Jr and D L Birchfield Critical essays discuss the poetry of Simon Ortiz Kimberly Blaeser Diane Glancy Luci Tapahonso and Ray A Young Bear as well as the life writings of Janet Campbell Hale Carter Revard and Jim Barnes An essay on Native drama examines the work of Hanay Geiogamah the Native American Theater Ensemble and Spider Woman Theatre In the volume s concluding essay Kenneth Lincoln reflects on the history of the Native American Renaissance up to and beyond his seminal work and discusses Native literature s legacy and future The essays collected here underscore the vitality of Native American literature and the need for debate on theory and ideology

Speaking for the Generations Simon J. Ortiz, 2022-02-08 Now it is my turn to stand At Acoma Pueblo meetings members rise and announce their intention to speak In that moment they are recognized and heard In Speaking for the Generations Acoma Pueblo poet Simon Ortiz brings together contemporary Native American writers to take their turn Each offers an evocation of herself or himself describing the personal social and cultural influences on her or his development as a writer Although each writer s viewpoint is personal and unique together they reflect the rich tapestry of today s Native literature Of varied backgrounds the writers represent Indian heritages and cultures from the Pacific Northwest to the northern plains from Canada to Guatemala They are poets novelists and playwrights And although their backgrounds are different and their statements intensely personal they share common themes of their relationship to the land to their ancestors and to future generations of their people From Gloria Bird s powerful recounting of personal and family history to Esther Belin s vibrant tale of her urban Native homeland in Los Angeles these writers reveal the importance of place and politics in their lives Leslie Marmon Silko calls upon the ancient tradition of Native American storytelling and its role in connecting the people to the land Roberta J Hill and Elizabeth Woody ponder some of the absurdities of contemporary Native life while Guatemalan Victor Montejo takes readers to the Mayan world where a native culture had writing and books long before Europeans came Together these pieces offer an inspiring portrait of what it means to be a Native writer in the twentieth century With passion and urgency these writers are speaking for themselves for their land and for the generations
