Making Faith-sense Robert L. Kinast, 1999 Making faith sense is a new term for an ancient practice It is what the early Christians called mystical or wisdom theology understanding life in the light of God s participation recorded in the Gospels recognizing the signs of God s presence in everyday events and shaping one s life accordingly In Making Faith Sense Robert Kinast shows all who seek to unify their life experience around their belief in God how to follow that ancient practice Drawing upon the award winning process he has used with students for the ministry Father Kinast explains how to make sense of family work and cultural experience from the perspective of Christian faith Each chapter contains numerous real life examples and practical guidelines that can be used privately or with a group Making Faith Sense begins with a discussion of wisdom theology and its revival in modern times highlighting the turn to experience that characterizes feminist liberation and inculturated theologies The methods for making faith sense embrace three main components experience reflection and action The first section describes what is meant by experience the value of narrating it how to analyze it and what to pay attention to so that experience will reveal its theological meaning The second section explains the role of reflection its similarity to prayer techniques for connecting experience to theological tradition and the most useful theological resources for making faith sense The third section affirms the importance of putting reflection into practice of ensuring that action flows from reflection of planning and evaluating the effect of one's practice and of using practice as the starting point for continuing the process of making faith sense. Examples from work, family, and cultural life are used throughout to provide illustrations of these general points. A concluding chapter summarizes the reemergence of practical theology since the 1980s as an effort of church communities to make faith sense of their collective lives. Chapters are: What Is Faith Sense, How to Make Faith Sense, Getting Started, How to Make Faith Sense, The Heart of the Matter, and Enacting Faith Sense: The Culmination of the Process.

Theological reflection connecting real-life ministry and religious traditions is a core component of most pastoral training. It is also a hallmark of practical theology and a common spiritual exercise among ordinary Christians trying to discern how their beliefs might influence daily living. Yet our society is increasingly pluralistic, with growing numbers of people from varying belief systems, from Islam to Buddhism, as well as an increasing number of atheists. In this book, Edward Foley reimagines theological reflection in interfaith contexts and with those of no faith tradition. The book addresses and celebrates diverse beliefs and envisions the practice of theological reflection in such contexts. Theological Reflection Across Religious Traditions introduces readers to the basics of traditional forms of theological reflection, then considers how it might be reconceived in different contexts: from interfaith ministers working together to reduce poverty and homelessness to people of diverse or no faith traditions; strategizing to secure the dignity of undocumented immigrants; beyond suggestions for collaborative social action, the book offers tools for productive interfaith conversation through a process Foley calls reflective believing. This is a groundbreaking rethinking of theological reflection for today's world, proposing that people across the religious landscape can participate in reflective believing for personal and communal benefit without sacrificing their own integrity.

A Guide to Theological Reflection Jim Wilson, Earl Waggoner, 2020-02-04

Feedback and evaluation, both of oneself and by others, are the lifeblood of a successful ministry experience. In A Guide to Theological Reflection, experienced practical ministry professors Jim Wilson and Earl Waggoner introduce the processes and tools of theological reflection for ministry. Effective evaluation includes critique and potential course correction for the honest and willing minister, as well as positive affirmation of how one's desires influence good ministry decisions. A Guide to Theological Reflection introduces tools by which a minister can interact with his or her own thoughts, beliefs, and feelings; external feedback, such as that of a ministry supervisor and Scripture, to inform deep and transformative theological reflection. Designed as a textbook for practical ministry courses and theological field education, A Guide to Theological Reflection can also be used in ministry contexts. It provides guidance for students, ministers in training, mentors and advisors laying a theoretical foundation for theological reflection and demonstrating step by step how to practice it well

Let Ministry Teach Robert L. Kinast, 1996 Relating theology to the practice of ministry is one of the most elusive goals in pastoral training Drawing upon seventeen years of experience in theology Doctor Kinast describes a step by step approach to help students and experienced ministers learn what their ministry teaches Through examples practical suggestions and principles grounded in process theology readers of Let Ministry Teach explore the full range of resources needed for meaningful theological reflection Let Ministry Teach strikes a clear balance between a very broad and detailed presentation of a theological reflection method so that it is neither too simplistic nor too hard to handle Each chapter describes a fundamental step in the method with the help of an illustration and commentary Chapters conclude with a list of practical suggestions and a short description of the theoretical background and its main points The challenge of theological reflection is to keep theology in the authentic experience of God's presence in our midst Let Ministry Teach places this reflection in context in a small group where it works best as a meaningful experience one that has an impact and initiates discussion as a faith theological perspective reflecting on experience from many points of view as a practical outcome where a person is in a better position to guide events according to one's beliefs and as a continuous process a skill which must be practiced In Let Ministry Teach Doctor Kinast develops a successful way of doing theological reflection which includes selecting an experience focusing on the meaningful moments describing an experience making it available for reflection entering an experience learning what it has to teach learning from an experience grasping what it teaches by relating it to what a person already knows and what the experience suggests is yet to be learned and enacting the learning incorporating the learning into a pattern of living and theological reflection The true basis of theological reflection a full deep meaningful embrace of life is learned from one's own experience Respectful of the full range of theological resources available for reflection and mindful of the primary goal of recognizing God's presence and responding to it theological reflection weaves experience and theology together into a way of life that continues the journey begun when Jesus first appeared Let Ministry Teach is offered as a companion for those on that journey Robert L Kinast a pastoral theologian specializes in the field of theological reflection Through the publications and services of the Center for Theological Reflection Indian Rocks Beach Florida he contributes to the ministry training programs of many denominations in the United States and Canada He is the author of the Vatican II Act II series and Mirror Meditations Praying with the Images of Vatican II published by Liturgical Press

Reflective Writing. Approaching Methods of Theological Reflection and Meaning of Life Victor Frimpong, 2020-07-03 Essay from the year 2020 in the subject Philosophy Practical Ethics Aesthetics Culture Nature Right grade B UGSM Monarch Business School Switzerland language English abstract This essay illustrates a trajectory of a reflective model using real life individual experience and leading to action Reflective writings are well covered in academic and applied works of literature even though reflection is a social construct subjected to varying interpretations and no clear consensus on what and how it should look like The core meaning of reflection is occasionally contested even belittled as mere individual self dialogue Popular commentary has wondered whether a mere recollection of event on a reflective format leads to any meanings at all What we do know is that reflection offers an opportunity to consider how one s personal experiences and observations through critical thinking and acceptance of new ideas

Sexuality and the Sacred James B. Nelson, Sandra P. Longfellow, 1994-01-01 This volume is rooted in two convictions first sexuality is far more comprehensive and more fundamental to our existence than simply genital sex and second sexuality is intended by God to be neither incidental nor detrimental to our spirituality but a fully integrated and basic dimension of that spirituality The authors address what our sexual experience reveals about God the ways we understand the gospel and the ways we read scripture and tradition and attempt to live faithfully

Theological Reflection and Education for Ministry John E. Paver, 2016-02-17 A major and continuing problem for theological education and the practice of Christian ministry is how to best achieve a genuine integration between theory and practice theology and experience The key claim of this book is that theological reflection beginning with experience is a method of integration and that pastoral supervision is a vehicle for theological reflection In establishing this claim John Paver demonstrates that the model and method have potential to be a catalyst for reform within theological colleges and seminaries Three different theological reflection models are developed and critiqued in this book and their capacity to be developed in particular contexts is explored This book does not stop at ministry cultural and personal integration but is bold enough to make recommendations for structural integration within the theological institution

Ministry That Transforms Kathleen McAlpin, 2009 Ministry is transformative action As Christians when we do something in service engaging the needs of our sisters and brothers in the name of Jesus Christ we minister for the reign of God The Romero House volunteers whose narratives undergird this volume actively construct a theology of ministry while undergoing a powerful sense of personal transformation Anyone involved in ministry whether in formation programs in parishes or in social justice activities will welcome this creative process oriented framework for ministerial theology and faith development a framework that is firmly grounded in the minister s grassroots experience
