

WHAT IS MULTIMEDIA?

Multimedia is a way of presenting and combining different types of content, such as text, images, audio, and video, into a single interactive experience.

It allows for the transmission of information in a more comprehensive and engaging manner, as different media are used to communicate a message.

Examples of multimedia include digital presentations, online videos, interactive games, and educational applications. By leveraging the combination of visual, auditory, and textual elements, multimedia provides an enriching and dynamic experience, facilitating understanding and entertainment for all kinds of audiences.

Smoliar,HongJiang Zhang,2012-12-06 Video and Image Processing in Multimedia Systems treats a number of critical topics in multimedia systems with respect to image and video processing techniques and their implementations These techniques include Image and video compression techniques and standards and Image and video indexing and retrieval techniques Video and Image Processing in Multimedia Systems is divided into three parts Part I serves as an introduction to multimedia systems discussing basic concepts multimedia networking and synchronization and an overview of multimedia applications Part II presents comprehensive coverage of image and video compression techniques and standards their implementations and applications Because multimedia data specifically video and images require efficient compression techniques in order to be stored and delivered in real time video and image compression is a crucial element of an effective multimedia system In Part III attention is focused on the semantic nature of image and video source material and how that material may be effectively indexed and retrieved Topics discussed include static images full motion video and the manner in which compressed representations can facilitate structural analysis Part III concludes with an extended discussion of a case study This book serves as an invaluable reference with respect to the most important standards in the field Video and Image Processing in Multimedia Systems is suitable as a textbook for course use
