Teaching Writing with Computers Pamela Takayoshi, Brian Huot, Ann Raimes, 2002-08 This convenient professional development teacher training resource combines landmark essays and the latest literature on the art and science of teaching writing with computers Ideal for new instructors TAs writing lab tutors and veteran composition professors this brief inexpensive text is designed to help instructors incorporate technology appropriately and effectively The authors have consulted with experts in technology and composition to select readings that will guide readers at all levels toward new thinking about their teaching Sixteen carefully selected readings feature the work of nearly two dozen respected scholars from a wide variety of higher education institutions New and landmark literature discusses both the theory and the practical aspects of teaching writing with computers and helps instructors incorporate technology appropriately and effectively

The Harcourt Brace Guide to Teaching Writing with Computers Campbell, 1998      Introducing Computing Lawrence Williams, 2014-08-07 This timely new text provides an accessible introduction to teaching Computing and computer programming Specifically designed for non specialists who need to develop new skills in Computing in order to meet the new curriculum requirements it offers a useful guide to the subject alongside worked examples of good practice Packed full of practical advice the book examines different approaches to introducing children from age 5 to Computing and describes a wide range of tried and tested projects that have been proven to work in schools Including case studies and a glossary of key terms it covers The key concepts in Computing and computational thinking Using personal learning networks social media and the wiki curriculum to develop higher thinking skills and desirable learner characteristics Links to the curriculum at Key Stages 1 2 and 3 Practical ways to develop children s Computing skills alongside creative writing art and music Gaming and computer science Featuring a companion website www.literacyfromscratch.org.uk with extensive support materials examples of pupils work links to software and downloadable lesson plans this is an essential text for all teachers and trainees who are responsible for the new Computing curriculum      From Disk to Hard Copy James Strickland, 1997 From Disk to Hard Copy is written for all middle secondary and postsecondary teachers whatever their level of experience with computers It offers direct simple advice a multitude of suggested strategies and applications and a prospective from which teachers can generate their own ideas and applications      Computer-mediated Communication Susan C. Herring, 1996 Text based interaction among humans connected via computer networks such as takes place via email and in synchronous modes such as chat MUDs and MOOs has attracted considerable popular and scholarly attention This collection of 14 articles on text based computer mediated communication CMC is the first to bring empirical evidence from a variety of disciplinary perspectives to bear on questions raised by the new medium The first section linguistic perspectives addresses the question of how CMC compares with speaking and writing and describes its unique structural characteristics Section two on social and ethical perspectives explores conflicts between the interests of groups and those of individual users including issues of online sex and sexism In the third section cross cultural perspectives the advantages and risks of using CMC to communicate across cultures are examined in three studies involving users in East Asia Mexico and students of ethnically diverse backgrounds in remedial writing classes in the United States The final section deals with the effects of CMC on group interaction in a women s studies mailing list a hierarchically organized workplace and a public protest on the Internet against corporate interests

Computers and the Teaching of Writing in American Higher Education, 1979-1994 Gail E. Hawisher,1996 This book is a history composed of histories Its particular focus is the way in which computers entered and changed the field of composition studies a field that defines itself both as a research community and as a community of teachers This may have a somewhat sinister suggestion that technology alone has agency but this history made of histories is not principally about computers It is about people the teachers and scholars who have adapted the computer to their personal and professional purposes From the authors perspectives change in technology drives changes in the ways we live and work and we agents to a degree in control of our own lives use technology to achieve our human purposes REVIEW This book reminds those of us now using computers to teach writing where we have been and it brings those who are just entering the field up to date More important it will inform administrators curriculum specialists and others responsible for implementing the future uses of technology in writing instruction
