John Taylor's brilliant new book examines the work of many of the major poets who have deeply marked modern and contemporary European literature. Venturing far and wide from the France in which he has lived since the late 1970s, the polyglot writer-critic not only delves into the more widely translated literatures of Italy, Greece, Germany, and Austria but also discovers impressive and overlooked work in Slovenia, Bosnia, Hungary, Finland, Norway, and the Netherlands. In this book that ranges over nearly all of Europe, including Russia, while providing this stimulating and far-ranging critical panorama, Taylor brings to light key themes of European writing: the depth of everyday life, the quest of the thing in itself, metaphysical aspiration and anxiety, the dialectics of negativity and affirmation, subjectivity and self-effacement, and uprootedness as a category that is as ontological as it is geographical, historical, political, or cultural. The book pays careful attention to the intersection of writing and history or politics, as several poets featured here have faced the Second World War, the Holocaust, Communism, the fall of Communism, or the war in the former Yugoslavia. Taylor gives the work of renowned, upcoming, and still little-known poets a thorough look, all the while scrutinizing recent translations of their verse. He highlights several poets who are also masters of the prose poem. He includes a few novelists who have fashioned a particularly original kind of poetic prose, that stylistic category that has proved so difficult for critics to define. Into the Heart of European Poetry should be of immediate interest to any reader curious about the aesthetic and philosophical ideas underlying major trends of contemporary European writing. In a day and age when much too little is translated and thus known about foreign literature and when Europeans themselves are pondering the common denominators of their own culture, this book is a

The Apocalypse Tapestries John Taylor, 2004 Poetry Winner of the 2004 Three Oaks Fiction Prize. John Taylor is the author of five collections of stories and short prose, also known for his critical work on contemporary French literature. This book is not only a modern commentary on the Bible and Tradition but a centuries-old Pilgrim's Progress woven with the author's life in the patterns of the tapestries that he has studied and recorded, a pictograph that sets the scene for both the Millennium and its traducing opposite, the Apocalypse. Burn & Learn, Or, Memoirs of the Cenozoic Era Eric Paul Shaffer, 2009. Burn & Learn is a wild tale of five friends attending college, drinking coffee at the Frontier Restaurant, and learning the wisdom of the ages, the era, and the street in Albuquerque, New Mexico. This episodic novel begins where Laurence Sterne and Richard Brautigan left off, introducing a truly amusing and alluring wilderness of words through which readers can blaze their own glorious trails. The novel reveals all in thirteen modes ranging from mythology, science fiction, fables, American koans, Coyote tales, BookMovie chapters, missing lists, realistic narrative, encyclopedic entries, enumerating the details of the Century of Technological Disaster, a love story, a lost love story, and parables of four monkish brothers residing in a cabin on the Continental Divide The novel encompasses all time from the beginning to the end of the universe and examines everything through the brief flickering frames of 167 short chapters
