Thomas Rowlandson's Doctor Syntax Drawings An Introduction And Guide:

Thomas Rowlandson's Doctor Syntax Drawings Thomas Rowlandson, Jerold Savory, 1997 Doctor Syntax one of the most popular characters in nineteenth century English fiction made his public debut in May 1809 in the first issue of Poetical Magazine under the editorial supervision of publisher and art dealer Rudolph Ackermann Under the title The Schoolmaster's Tour the magazine featured its first installment of the adventures and misadventures of this eccentric traveller and pedantic cleric illustrated with aquatint drawings by the prolific caricaturist and comic artist Thomas Rowlandson 1756-1827 with narrative commentary by William Combe The Making of a Cultural Landscape Jason Wood, John K. Walton, 2016-03-09 For centuries the English Lake District has been renowned as an important cultural sacred and literary landscape It is therefore surprising that there has so far been no in depth critical examination of the Lake District from a tourism and heritage perspective Bringing together leading writers from a wide range of disciplines this book explores the tourism history and heritage of the Lake District and its construction as a cultural landscape from the mid eighteenth century to the present day It critically analyses the relationships between history heritage landscape culture and policy that underlie the activities of the National Park Cumbria Tourism and the proposals to recognise the Lake District as a UNESCO World Heritage Site It examines all aspects of the Lake District's history and identity brings the story up to date and looks at current issues in conservation policy and tourism marketing In doing so it not only provides a unique and valuable analysis of this region but offers insights into the history of cultural and heritage tourism in Britain and beyond The English Cult of Literature William R. McKelvy, 2007 What constitutes reading This is the question William McKelvy asks in The English Cult of Literature Is it a theory of interpretation or a physical activity a process determined by hermeneutic destiny or by paper ink hands and eyes McKelvy seeks to transform the nineteenth century field of Religion and Literature into Reading and Religion emphasizing both the material and the institutional contexts for each In doing so he hopes to recover the ways in which modern literary authority developed in dialogue with a politically reconfigured religious authority The received wisdom has been that England's literary tradition was modernity's most promising religion because the established forms of Christianity wounded in the Enlightenment inevitably gave up their hold on the imagination and on the political sphere Through a series of case studies and analysis of a diverse range of writing this work gives life to a very different story one that shows literature assuming a religious vocation in concert with an increasingly unencumbered freedom of religious confession and the making of a reading nation In the process the author shifts attention away from the idea of the literary critic in favor of considering the historic role of religious professionals in shaping and contesting the authority of print Indebted to recent findings of book history and newer historiographies at odds with conventional secularization theory this work makes an interdisciplinary contribution to revising the existing models for understanding change in Britain during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Entree aus Schrift und Bild Werner Busch, Hubertus Fischer, Joachim Möller, 2008 Gender,

Taste, and Material Culture in Britain and North America, 1700-1830 John Styles, Amanda Vickery, 2006 Between 1700 and 1830 men and women in the English speaking territories framing the Atlantic gained unprecedented access to material things The British Atlantic was an empire of goods held together not just by political authority and a common language but by a shared material culture nourished by constant flows of commodities Diets expanded to include exotic luxuries such as tea and sugar the fruits of mercantile and colonial expansion Homes were furnished with novel goods like clocks and earthenware teapots the products of British industrial ingenuity This groundbreaking book compares these developments in Britain and North America bringing together a multi disciplinary group of scholars to consider basic questions about women men and objects in these regions In asking who did the shopping how things were used and why they became the subject of political dispute the essays show the profound significance of everyday objects in the eighteenth century Atlantic world

Romanticism and the Rise of English Andrew Elfenbein, 2008-10-30 Named a CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title for 2009 Romanticism and the Rise of English addresses a peculiar development in contemporary literary criticism the disappearance of the history of the English language as a relevant topic Elfenbein argues for a return not to older modes of criticism but to questions about the relation between literature and language that have vanished from contemporary investigation His book is an example of a kind of work that has often been called for but rarely realized a social philology that takes seriously the formal and institutional forces shaping the production of English This results not only in a history of English but also in a recovery of major events shaping English studies as a coherent discipline This book points to new directions in literary criticism by arguing for the need to reconceptualize authorial agency in light of a broadened understanding of linguistic history
