The Age of Total War, 1860-1945 Jeremy Black, 2010-09-16 What is total war Definitions abound but one thing is certain the concept of total war has come to be seen as a defining concept of the modern age In The Age of Total War celebrated historian Jeremy Black explores the rise and demise of an era of total war which he defines in terms of the intensity of the struggle the range geographical and or chronological of conflict the nature of the goals and the extent to which civil society was involved He contends that this era roughly 1860 1945 was markedly different from the warfare that characterized earlier periods and that it is very different from the situation that has evolved since with its emphasis on asymmetrical conflict and limited warfare Acknowledging that various definitions are problematic and often contradictory Black argues that 1860 to 1945 was an era in which the prospect of war and the consequences of it were crucially important for human history He focuses primarily on conflict between Western powers including Japanese participation in the Russo Japanese War Trends and developments subsequent to 1945 have combined Black asserts to make a return to total war unlikely Germany and the Second World War, 1990 This is the second in the comprehensive ten volume Germany and the Second World War The five volumes so far published in German take the story to the end of 1941 and have achieved international acclaim as a major contribution to historical study Under the auspices of the Militargeschichtliches Forschungsamt Research Institute for Military History a team of renowned historians has combined a full synthesis of existing material with the latest research to produce what will be the definitive history of the Second World War This volume surveys the first year of the war deliberately begun by Nazi Germany The authors examine the train of interconnected political and military events and set military operations against the background of Hitler's war policy and general aims both immediate and long term The authors show that the conflict took a course quite different from that which Hitler had intended but nevertheless resulted in a series of conquests for the Third Reich On the Road to Total War Stig Förster, Jorg Nagler, 2002-08-22 On the Road to Total War attempts to trace the roots and development of total industrialised warfare a concept which terrorises citizens and soldiers alike Mass mobilisation of people and resources and the growth of nationalism led to this totalisation of war in nineteenth century industrialised nations In this collection of essays international scholars focus on the social political economic and cultural impact of the American Civil War and the German Wars of Unification The Armies of the World Charles Samuel Jerram, 1900 The American Labor Year Book, 1920 Cuban Sugar Sales United States. Cities into Battlefields Stefan Goebel, Derek Keene, 2017-03-02 Cities have always had a key role in warfare as strategic centres which periodically suffered the horrors of siege and sack. With industrialisation however they were drawn ever closer to the front line and to direct and continuous experience of fighting and destruction. Cities into Battlefields: Metropolitan Scenarios, Experiences and Commemorations of Total War explores the cultural imprint of military conflict on metropolises world wide in the era of the First and Second World Wars. It brings together cultural and urban historians and scholars of related disciplines including anthropology, education and geography. The volume examines how the emergence of total warfare blurred the boundaries between home and front and transformed cities into battlefields. The logic of total mobilisation turned the social and cultural fabric of urban life upside down. Arranged so as to bring out the evolution of experience over time, the essays explore Eastern and Central Europe, Britain and Western Europe and Japan and address several key themes. The first strand, scenarios, explores the apocalyptic imagination of intellectuals and experts in peacetime. Artists and writers anticipating doom presented the coming upheaval as an urban event, a commonplace of late Victorian and post 1918 pessimism. On a different plane, civil servants and engineers materialised visions of urban chaos and devised countermeasures in case of emergencies. Both groups helped to furnish a repertoire of cultural forms which channelled and encoded the actual experience of war. The second strand deals with metropolitan experiences, notably mobilisation, deprivation and destruction in wartime. Ruins and the repercussions of war is the central theme of the third strand, commemorations, which investigates post war efforts to remember and forget. The quest for meaningful forms of commemoration was hard enough after the First World War, the Second World War which saw whole cities disappear in flames raised the possibility that the limits of representation had been reached. The central contention of this volume is that total war in the twentieth century has a significant but often overlooked metropolitan dimension, fully addressed thereby filling a conspicuous gap in the currently available literature. The Statist, 1918 Annual Report, 1899 The New International Encyclopaedia, 1929 Journal of the Royal United Service Institution, 1909 The World's Work, 1917 A history of our time Congressional Record United States. Congress, 1901 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress. It is published daily when Congress is in session. The Congressional Record began publication in 1873. Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789-1824, the Register of Debates in Congress 1824-1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833-1873.
