Constructions of Intersubjectivity Arie Verhagen, 2005-05-26 Constructions of Intersubjectivity shows that the meaning of grammatical constructions often has more to do with the human cognitive capacity for taking other peoples points of view than with describing the world Treating pragmatics semantics and syntax in parallel and integrating insights from linguistics psychology and studies in animal behaviour Arie Verhagen develops a new understanding of linguistic communication In doing so he shows the continuity between language and animal communication and reveals the nature of human linguistic specialization Professor Verhagen uses Dutch and English data from a wide variety of sources and considers the contributions of grammar to the coherence of discourse He argues that important problems in semantics and syntax may be resolved if language is understood as an instrument for exerting influence and coordinating different perspectives The grammatical phenomena he discusses include negative expressions the let alone construction complementation constructions and discourse connectives This powerfully argued and original explanation of the nature and operation of communication will interest a wide range of scholars and advanced students in linguistics cognitive science and human evolution Learning at Home, PreK-3 Ann C. Barbour, 2009-10-15 Create a strong home school connection through family activities that extend learning Packed with hundreds of engaging activities this unique resource helps teachers plan developmentally appropriate creative homework assignments that encourage positive learning experiences and reinforce home school connections Focusing on social interactions within the family these fun playful activities Relate directly to children s own experiences Employ concrete easily accessible materials Include shared reading experiences family projects and games Integrate developmental and content areas including language and literacy mathematics science and the creative arts Promote literacy learning in homes where English is not the primary language Beauty and the End of Art Sonia Sedivy, 2016-04-21 Beauty and the End of Art shows how a resurgence of interest in beauty and a sense of ending in Western art are challenging us to rethink art beauty and their relationship By arguing that Wittgenstein s later work and contemporary theory of perception offer just what we need for a unified approach to art and beauty Sonia Sedivy provides new answers to these contemporary challenges These new accounts also provide support for the Wittgensteinian realism and theory of perception that make them possible Wittgenstein s subtle form of realism explains artworks in terms of norm governed practices that have their own varied constitutive norms and values Wittgensteinian realism also suggests that diverse beauties become available and compelling in different cultural eras and bring a shared higher order value into view With this framework in place Sedivy argues that perception is a form of engagement with the world that draws on our conceptual capacities This approach explains how perceptual experience and the perceptible presence of the world are of value helping to account for the diversity of beauties that are available in different historical contexts and why the many faces of beauty allow us to experience the value of the world s perceptible presence Carefully examining contemporary debates about art aesthetics and perception Beauty and the End of Art presents an original approach Insights from such diverse thinkers as Immanuel Kant Hans Georg Gadamer and Arthur Danto Alexander Nehamas Elaine Scarry and Dave Hickey are woven together to reveal how they make good sense if we bring contemporary theory of perception and Wittgensteinian realism into the conversation
