The Structure of Philosophical Discourse Kyle Lucas, Sarah Lucas, 2024-03-29 This book builds on existing work in genre analysis and move analysis in English for Specific Purposes ESP and applies this new framework to academic philosophical discourse offering new insights into how ESP traditions can elucidate shifts in language conventions across disciplinary contexts The volume begins by surveying the state of the art in English for Specific Purposes and genre theory as well as other genre theory paradigms before turning the focus on move analysis Lucas and Lucas seek to maximize the potential of move analysis to precisely operationalize functional units of discourse by implementing a cognitive theory of genre grounded in frame semantics Using the case of academic research articles in philosophy the authors demonstrate how this framework can reveal distinctive dimensions unique to philosophical discourse and in turn how such an approach might be applied more broadly to examine nuances in language across disciplines and inform ESP research in the future This book will appeal to students and researchers in English for Specific Purposes discourse analysis academic writing applied linguistics and rhetoric and composition

A Multiple-Corpora Approach to Chinese-English Contrastive Analysis Hongwu Qin, Lei Kong, 2025-09-30 This innovative work combines traditional analysis with modern corpus based methods to explore macro and micro level linguistic patterns in English and Chinese offering new insights into comparative studies of the two languages Through detailed analysis of part of speech sequences prepositional functions pragmatic markers and several other aspects this volume uncovers key similarities and differences between English and Chinese By integrating quantitative and qualitative methods with large scale linguistic data the book pushes the boundaries of contrastive linguistics bridges cultural and linguistic divides and deepens our understanding of how the two languages function and interact This book will serve as a valuable resource for researchers and students interested in contrastive linguistics and the intersection of language technology and culture. It will also be essential reading for educators and practitioners in language teaching and translation.

Pauline Language and the Pastoral Epistles Jermo van Nes, 2017-12-11. In Pauline Language and the Pastoral Epistles. Jermo van Nes questions the common assumption in New Testament scholarship that language variation is necessarily due to author variation. By using the so-called Pastoral Epistles (PE) as a test case, Van Nes demonstrates by means of statistical linguistics that only one out of five of their major lexical and syntactic peculiarities differs significantly from other Pauline writings. Most of the PE's linguistic peculiarities are shown to differ considerably in the Corpus Paulinum, but modern studies in classics and linguistics suggest that factors other than author variation account equally if not better for this variation. Since all of these explanatory factors are compatible with current authorship hypotheses of the PE, Van Nes suggests to no longer use language as a criterion in debates about their authenticity.
