Forms of Business Ownership

Entity Type	Liability	Taxation	Formation	Maintenance
Sole proprietorship	Owner personally liable for business debts. Same advantages as a regular limited liability company	Owner reports profits or loss on his or her personal tax return	Simple and inexpensive to create and operate. No filing necessary	No formal corporate requirements required
General partnership	Owner (partners) personally liable for business debts	Owner (partners) reports profits or loss on his or her personal tax return	Simple and inexpensive to create and operate. No filing necessary	General partners can raise funds without involving outside investors in management of business
Limited partnership	Limited partners have limited personal liability for business debts as long as they do not participate in management	Type and scope of return on investment (ROI) responsibility is a dividend provided to limited partners by limited partnership typically outlined in partnership agreement	Usually easier for companies that cannot be sold easily. More expensive to create than general partnership	Liable limited by a separate agreement (such as a government limited partners deal) has a management responsibility and is not responsible for partnership's debts
Limited liability company (LLC)	Combines a corporation's liability protection and pass-through tax structure of a partnership	ROI rules now allow LLC's to choose between being taxed as partnership or corporation	More expensive to create than partnership or sole proprietorship	Member interest may be sold in accordance with company policy. Significantly less work involved in maintaining a corporation
Professional limited liability company (PLLC)	Members have no personal liability for malpractice of other members. However, they are liable for their own acts of malpractice	A single-member PLLC is treated as a disregarded tax entity, same as a sole proprietor, giving it pass-through tax treatment. A multiple-member PLLC is treated as a partnership	Given state-limited professional, a way to enjoy LLC advantages. Members must all be long to state professions. Not available in all states	Members can specify rights and responsibilities, powers, PLLC financial matters, and rights and restrictions regarding ownership interests with full flexibility through a written operating agreement
C corporation	Owners have limited personal liability for business debts	Owners can pay a lower overall tax rate by dividing company profits among themselves and their company, a distinct taxable entity. If large benefits may be written off as an office expense	May have an unlimited number of shareholders. More expensive to create than partnership or sole proprietorship	Means of stock may be sold to raise capital. Meetings required to maintain corporate status
