Edinburgh Companion to Modernism and Technology Ian Whittington, Alex Goody, 2022-07-25 Though modernism's emergence in an environment of techno-cultural acceleration has long been recognized recent scholarship has deepened and challenged our understanding of the connections between twentieth century cultural production and its technological interlocutors In twenty eight chapters by leading academics The Edinburgh Companion to Modernism and Technology re-examines the machines and media that functioned as modernism's contexts and competitors Grounded in an interdisciplinary approach informed by the theoretical and socio-historical frames of current teaching and research on modernism and technology this research volume makes a crucial and timely intervention in the field of modernist studies The scholarly contributions on machines that govern transport production and public utilities on media and communication technologies on the intersections of technology with the human body and on the technological systems of the early twentieth century capture the contemporary state of modernist technology studies and chart the future directions of this vibrant area

Form and Modernity in Women's Poetry, 1895-1922 Sarah Parker, 2024-02-29 While W B Yeats's influential account of the Tragic Generation claims that most fin de siècle poets died or at least stopped writing shortly after 1900 this book explodes this narrative by attending to the twentieth century poetry produced by women poets Alice Meynell Michael Field Katharine Bradley and Edith Cooper Dollie Radford and Katharine Tynan While primarily associated with the late nineteenth century these poets were active in the twentieth century but their later writing is overlooked in modernist dominated studies partly due to this poetry's adherence to traditional form This book reveals that these poets far from being irrelevant to modernity used these established forms to address contemporary concerns including suffrage sexuality motherhood and the First World War The chapters focus on Meynell's manipulations of metre to contemplate temporality and literary tradition Michael Field's use of blank verse to portray the conflicted modern woman Radford's adaptation of the aesthetic song like lyric to tackle the experience of the city urban crime and suffrage and Tynan's employment of the ballad to soothe bereaved mothers during the First World War This book ultimately shows that traditional forms played a vital role in shaping mature women poets responses to modernity illuminating debates about form tradition
